MORRISON SCORES GRUBBS

—U.N. OFFICIALS BELIEVE CHIEF DEAD—

Search Underway For Ex-Premier Lumumba

Elisabethville, The Congo (AP) — A wide ranging air and ground search by dusk Friday had turned up no trace of Patrice Lumumba, the mysteriously missing ex-premier of the Congo. His Katanga province jailers reported 24 hours previously he had escaped but their version was met with skepticism.

Some U.N. officials said they believe Lumumba is dead and the escape story may be a deception used by the Katanga government — arch foe of the leftist-leaning unpredictable Congolese leader.

(The official Yugoslav Communist newspaper Borba of Belgrade said Friday in a Leopoldville dispatch that Lumumba had safely reached Bukava, capital of Kivu Province. Bukava is some 550 miles northeast of where Lumumba was being held.

All Skeptical

(Ten pro-Lumumba nations in the United Nations in New York — all skeptical — asked Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold Friday to investigate the Katanga reports that Lumumba escaped. U.S. chief delegate Adlai Stevenson said the United States would deeply deplore Lumumba's assassination if that turned out to be his fate.)

Katanga officials said security troops, helicopters and planes scoured the isolated farmhouse, prison area where Lumumba was held.

They reported spotting only a black sedan parked on a road about 25 miles north of the Portuguese Angola-Katanga border town of Kasaji.

Being Checked

The car was being checked to determine whether it was the one in which Lumumba and two imprisoned aides reportedly fled after overpowering guards. Kasaji is about 250 miles west of Elisabethville, the Katanga capital.

If the car is the one used in Lumumba's reported jailbreak, it could mean Lumumbab is heading toward the Bukama area controlled by Lumumbists.

Bukama is about 200 miles north of Kasaji but men on foot, hiding in the thick bush and evading patrols, could make the distance in about a week, living off the land.

Out of Way

The Katanga government has gone out of its way to present what it says are the facts available in Lumumba's escape. But there were many details missing and more than one diplomatic mission was considerably skeptical.

A Western diplomat with excellent contacts said his best sources contend Lumumba and his two companions were dead before the announcement of escape.

Many believe Lumumba was either shot or died from beatings.

"It could be an old wartime story of 'shot while trying to escape' " said one diplomat.

Speculation

There was speculation that the Katanga government will either announce soon that Lumumba was killed when faced with Katanga search patrols and decided to shoot it out or that Lumumba and his colleagues could just disappear and their escape would remain a mystery.

Lumumba, the Congo's first premier, was deposed in September and arrested in November.

U.N. officials and sources close to the Congo government in Leopoldville said they believe Lumumba is dead. The escape report produced none of the panic in the capital usually associated with Lumumba escape stories.

One member of the U.N. Conciliation Commission, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, told newsmen: "I think this a cover-up story and that he has probably been shot. If Lumumba is dead there will be no peace in the Congo for 20 years." Ghana has supported Lumumba in the United Nations.

Violence

Lumumba's death would almost certainly produce a violent reaction among his followers. Western officials fear pro-Lumumba rulers in the northeast would touch off a new wave of violence against the area's white population.

TOURING GOLDBERG SAYS—

Only Prompt Action Will Block 'Real Depression'

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said Friday night that only prompt action will forestall "a real depression in the United States."

Goldberg, inspecting Illinois and Indiana unemployment areas for President Kennedy, called for bipartisan political support for administration economic proposals.

Goldberg interviewed idle workers and their families in employment offices and conferred with political, labor and business leaders in Chicago, Gary and South Bend.

The latter two steel and auto producing centers have nearly 12% unemployed.

Meeting here with several hundred South Bend community leaders, Goldberg said: "we are in a real recession in the United States and if we don't take the proper action we'll be in a real depression in the United States."

Goldberg said he was not on a political junket but a campaig: to enlist the support of business and labor and all segments of American life to lick the nation's economic downtrend.

The labor secretary said he ran into a valuable suggestion from one of the idled workers he interviewed, Bill Kayman, South Bend auto worker.

Kayman told him that if the government provided health insurance coverage for the aged, many older workers would retire and provide jobs for younger people. Kayman said many older workers stay on in jobs just to continue company health insurance protection.

The labor secretary said the Kennedy administration inherited overstated federal revenue estimates from the Eisenhower administration. He said these estimates reflected an expected tax yield based on profits, earnings and incomes which, Goldberg said, do not exist because of the recession.

The only way, he said, to achieve a balanced budget and a solution to the flight of American capital abroad is to get the domestic economy restored to full vigor.

Goldberg, onetime labor union attorney, said the country can be restored to full employment and prosperity if government, business and labor all pull together.

Prompt action, he said, is needed to reverse the economic downtrend.

Goldberg flew from Washington to Chicago and then on to hard-hit Gary and South Bend, Indiana, for conferences with local officials and unemployed workers and their families.

His 3-day tour got off to a bad start when his topcoat disappeared at the Washington airport. But Goldberg's daughter, Barbara, produced a spare one in Chicago where she attends college.

The tour, one of several planned on-the-spot-inspections of unemployed areas in 5 states, is aimed as a concrete expression, Goldberg said, of Kennedy's "deep concern" with the unemployment problems.

MAN REPORTS SLAYING WIFE, SHIPPING BODY

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—Police said Friday that Edward Albrecht, 24, admitted he strangled his wife and shipped her body to Chicago in a trunk.

Inspector Donald K. Bluchер quoted the ex-Marine as saying he had had an argument with his wife, Ann Marita, also 24, the morning of Dec. 20 and she struck him with a bottle.

Blucher said Albrecht told him that he took the bottle away and hit his wife with it. He was quoted by the inspector as saying he then strangled her with his hands.

Albrecht, Blucher said, then shipped the body to a non-existent address in Chicago. It was found in the trunk in a Chicago freight office last month.

Farm Proposal Setback Arouses Jensen's Anger

By Don Walton

The Legislature Friday refused to suspend its rules and give immediate approval to a resolution endorsing the proposed feed-grain farm plan outlined earlier this week by a presidential task force.

A motion to suspend the rules received 24 favorable votes, 5 short of the required number.

Action followed nearly an hour of bitter debate which often centered on partisan politics and stretched into the noon hour.

Two motions to adjourn failed during parliamentary maneuvering which preceded the decisive vote.

Jensen Angered

Following adjournment, an angry Sen. Hans Jensen of Aurora—chief introducer of the resolution signed by 19 senators—charged that partisanship defeated his motion.

"Everytime I stand up, this represents the Democratic Party," Jensen told newsmen.

"This is unfair. There was no reason why the resolution should not have passed."

The move to block Jensen's motion was led by Sens.

They Were 'Perfect' Specimens

Blessed Are The 'Poor In Heart'

By Bill Anderson
And Bob 'Wiry' McCoy

Humbled, humiliated and heartbroken, the two hour-earlier "he-men" headed home from a Lincoln hospital.

They walked slowly, with heads hanging heavy and hearts heaving with the awful truth.

It began two days earlier with an inquiry from a young lady, who said she needed blood to bank for a friend of hers.

Being of sound mind and body, and blessed with a humanitarian spirit, the two (ages 22 and 25) consented to donate.

Said one: "I'll be glad to do my bit. After all, we who are healthy must be generous."

Said the other: "I've been known to go along with these kind of deals. Sign me in."

The day before B-day, instructions arrived.

"You are not to eat for 4 hours prior to the appointed hour. Above all, eat no dairy products."

'Let It Begin'

When the hour arrived, the two Spartan souls marched smartly into the hospital, cast off their wraps, sniffed in a deep breath and said arrogantly: "Blood-letting may begin."

First came a questionnaire: "Have you had ... a recent cold . . . jaundice . . . coughing spells . . . fainting fits . . . hay fever . . . pregnancy . . . ?"

They wrote no. The attendant pronounced them healthy in their own minds.

"Come into my parlor," said the nurse to the guys. "We'll take the wiry one first."

Wants to Heckle

"Let me go, too, I want to heckle and watch him crack under the strain," joked the other. "We'll go together," said the nurse.

The donors were ordered to lie down on padded slabs.

"Hold out your finger," said the nurse to the first donor. "We need a blood sample."

The other donor chuckled from the opposite couch as the pin went in 3 times. "My, you have tough hide," the nurse said with an efficient smile.

He beat his chest and growled: "I'm tough all over."

Oral thermometers came next for both, quieting the chider who would be second.

Blood pressure bands were pulled from a drawer, and they hissed as she pressed the bulbs. The giant on couch No. 2 flexed his biceps and beat his feet on the end of the couch to a tune playing on a radio over his head.

"Hmm," the nurse said to couch No. 1. "Are you awake?"

"I'm sorry," she said wryly. "We can't take you. Your blood pressure is 20 points below normal."

Couch No. 2 almost spit out his thermometer as laughter bubbled up in his throat.

Held Faint

She said that if she took a pint of blood from No. 1, he'd pass out before she was halfway through. "Even your temperature is 4 degrees below normal."

Couch No. 2 beamed.

"We can't take you either," she said, turning to him. No. 2's eyes grew wide, and No. 1 choked.

"Your temperature's alright, but your blood pressure is jumping around like a rabbit. Maybe it's because you've been stomping your feet to the music."

A technician was called in to verify the findings, but the verdict was the same.

"Try again if you like," the nurse said.

"Thanks," said the wiry wilted one.

The one with the palpitating heart grunted.

They trudged away, a little bit wiser, no longer beating their chests.

Ex-Insurance Chief Hit For Miami Trip

. . . DEPTS. TOLD TO 'WATCH THEIR STEP'

By Betty Person

Gov. Frank Morrison said Friday that former State Insurance Director William Grubbs "violated the law" when Woodmen of the World Insurance Society paid for Grubbs' trip to Miami to confer with WOW Board Chairman E. D. Rivers.

Morrison, who made the comment to newsmen at a press conference, said that "Attorney General Clarence Meyer told me the law was violated."

This was denied, however, by Meyer who told reporters, "That isn't a correct conclusion to draw from anything I said."

Meyer said he had written Morrison a letter in response to queries from the governor on the WOW matter in which he said there had been "no law violation" by Grubbs and the Insurance Department.

"I'm standing on that letter," the attorney general stated.

'Business' Ban

Morrison then gave newsmen an executive order which he has issued to all departments under his control in which he orders them to refuse to do business with political leaders "in matters pending before state agencies."

He said the order was issued to "meet to some extent the problem" posed by developments involving the WOW matter.

Democratic National Committeeman Bernard Boyle of Omaha represented the society for a few months last year when it was involved in the investigation.

Morrison's executive order specifically orders department heads to "reject the representation for hire in matters pending before state agencies of the following state officers of political parties: state chairmen, vice chairmen, national committeemen, national committeewomen and all compensated executive officers and employes of state party organizations."

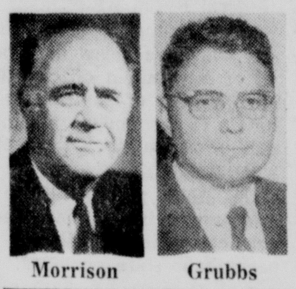
'Guest Of Licensee'

Morrison then took sharp issue with Grubbs for going to the Miami conference "as guest of the licensee with whom he was engaged in argument at the time."

"I don't think it's good public policy for directors of insurance to be transacting state business in Miami, nor any place outside the State of Nebraska or the State Capitol Building," Morrison said.

"When the intervenor or attorney for the licensee is paid $25,000 and happens to be the Democratic National Committeeman, that only further accentuates the problem," Morrison declared.

Contacted on Morrison's statements, Grubbs said he was "shocked that a person holding a responsible position would make such an irresponsible, vicious and slanderous charge.



Morrison Grubbs

"It would appear to me that since the man occupying the governor's office apparently misquoted the attorney general of the State of Nebraska, and disregarded the statutes of the State of Nebraska in his comments, that he must have been disturbed and confused at the time of those acts.

"It is unfortunate that I hap-

—DOG PUZZLES 'WISE MEN'—

Friendly Dukie-Brucie Breeds 'Royal Hassle'

Houston, Tex. (AP) — It was in the reign of John and Jacqueline.

Two disputants were sore distressed and their lamentations were loud as they sought to settle their hassle.

"Verily," said Ed Kuciembra to Justice Albert Lee, "someone has heisted my dog. "And I pray thee in thy wisdom to set judgment in my favor and return my Collie Duke to my household. After all there is moola involved here. I shelled out $100 for that canine."

"Nay, wise judge," protested Mrs. Bonnie Engdohl, "assess not thy ruling in haste lest there be injustice done to me and my fine Collie. His monicker is not Duke, it is Bruce and this bloke is sadly mistaken in his pleadings."

And while the large sable and white collie languished in a jail cell, Justice Lee pondered. Both litigants had lost a dog. Both claimed the one in the calaboose. After all, one would think a citizen could tell his own pooch unless he loved him not and paid his canine no mind. Why should they seek out a copper and accuse each other of dog filching even if malice were not alleged by either party?

But Lee was a wise judge and believed in the modernities of the law even though his own findings have brought him the cognomen of the "law west of moonshine hill" in suburban Houston.

"Mrs. Engdohl," he said to the 67-year-old woman. "You say Bruce is 6-years old. Mr. Kuciembra (a young man of 31) claims his Duke is only 3. Therefore I shall call in a horse doc—uh veterinarian or two and the court will shift its all-wise settlement unto the shoulders of science.

That's what the judge said. But the veterianarians didn't. One said the jail dog was one age, another disagreed.

That's why Dukie Brucie boy is still in the klink.

Couldn't the canine thorn in Lee's side settle this nutty dilemma by bestowing his affections where they belong—on his owner?

Nope. Brucie-Dukie boy shows affection for Kuciembra, Mrs. Engdohl, and everyone else in equal doses.

So the jury sat...and sat... and sat. For 80 minutes the 6 good men and true sat, and thought.

When they were through Friday night, they decided that Duke-Bruce was really Bruce. But Bruce, at least Bruce for the time being, stayed in jail another night because Kuciembra appealed the jury's decision.

Milford Trade School Gets $550,000 Advance

The Budget Committee voted 6-2 Friday to give the Nebraska Vocational Trade School at Milford an advance of $550,000 on its share of the state's institutional building fund.

The action came when the committee amended and advanced LB115, introduced by Sens. H. K. Diers of Gresham, Ed McHugh of Murdock and Joe Vosoba of Wilber.

The bill had requested that the Milford school be advanced $325,000 in order to speed up construction of badly needed replacements for its physical plant.

It developed at the public hearing on the measure last week that the requested building would cost $550,000 if constructed in its entirety rather than doing it piecemeal—thus effecting a saving of some $27,000.

Action 'Justified'

For this reason, a majority of the committee felt it would justify action to advance the entire construction sum.

LB115 also was amended to provide that completion of the murals in the Capitol Building should be paid for out of the Capitol's share of the state building levy.

Six percent of the building levy is earmarked for the Capitol, and of their share,

Other Action On Pgs. 5, 12, 13

20% is set aside for air-conditioning the Statehouse.

The Budget Committee amended the bill to provide that 8% of the remaining 80%, approximately $27,200, be set aside to complete the murals in the Capitol.

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney had requested that $25,000 be appropriated from the general fund for this purpose.

—U.S. ATTORNEY—

Governor Again Rejects Conrad

By Betty Person

Governor Frank Morrison repeated Friday that he does not want Robert B. Conrad to receive the federal appointment to the post of U.S. District Attorney.

Morrison said again also that he would have no objection to Conrad's having "any federal post for which he's qualified, but there are other men I'd certainly prefer being appointed as U.S. District attorney."

Asked to elaborate on why he thought Conrad was not qualified for the attorney's post, Morrison said, "Among the reasons, he hasn't practiced law for the last two years, and for a year or two before that only part time."

He said, "I don't have any personal animosity against Robert Conrad or anyone else."

Morrison was in Washington earlier this week and had with him William Norton, Osceola attorney whom he has given his top recommendation for the post. Morrison introduced Norton to Democratic National Chairman John Bailey and Deputy Attorney General Byron White.

Morrison told reporters Friday. "I have never demanded of any public official the appointment of anybody, nor have I demanded of any public official that they not appoint anybody."

On other matters Friday, Morrison indicated he is not yet close to appointing a permanent state engineer.

John Hossack has been acting engineer since January, 1960.

Morrison said he has been busy with other matters, and added, "I don't think there's anything particularly urgent about it, but I'm in touch with it all the time."

In reply to a question, the governor said, "I have no reason but to believe that John Hossack is an excellent highway planner."

"I've had some real disagreements with him too," Morrison added, noting that these involved such as the routing of the Interstate Highway through downtown Omaha.

A governor, Morrison said, looks at highway problems from a different viewpoint than does an engineer—the governor looking at highway plans from the "standpoint of the economy of the whole," and the highway planner from the view of "vehicle miles per dollar."

"I've always been convinced and am still convinced the state would have been better off if the money had been spent outstate rather than Omaha," Morrison said.

He noted, however, that Hossack told him the state was obligated to the extent of $9 million in the Omaha area and that this was done after consultation with and the approval of the Federal Bureau of Roads.

pen to be the subject upon which he happened at this apparent moment of irresponsibility.

"All of the responsible observers whom I know in the regulatory field and business fields have been highly complimentary to me on the manner in which I conducted the Department of Insurance during my term.

'Feel Pride'

"I feel some pride in the result of the entire WOW affair and I feel that the interests of the State of Nebraska are best served by keeping the $2 million annual payroll and the $220 million in assets legally within our state.

"All I can say is that I deeply resent any derogatory inference concerning my motives and he who makes derogatory allegations concerning my character will soon find that I will not allow them to go unchallenged," Grubbs declared.

In answer to a question on whether he would take the matter to court, Grubbs said, "I haven't considered that matter at this time since I'm more interested in building an industry for Nebraska."

On Miami Trip

On the payment of the Miami trip, Grubbs said, "I am a lawyer and my interpretation of the statutes corresponds with the interpretation of the lawyer in the Department of Insurance that Woodmen of the World was required to reimburse the state for the entire examination which included the trip for a conference."

"It seems peculiar that the governor would have preferred me to charge the public instead of the company. Since a fraternal society pays no premium tax to the state, I felt it even more important that the society pay all the costs of the examination," Grubbs said.

Council Bluffs Man Suffers Skull Fracture

Rueben Fanders, of Council Bluffs, was hospitalized with a skull fracture and other injuries resulting from an auto collision at 14th and Cornhusker Highway Friday night.

A car driven by Fanders' wife was in collision with one driven by Amos M. Perkins, 32, of 2625 No. 9th, the State Safety Patrol said.

Two children, passengers in the Fanders' auto, were uninjured.

Perkins was going west on Cornhusker Highway and the Fanders' auto was going north on 14th.

Politics Course RegistrationOpen

Registration for a 9-week practical political science "action courses" is still open, according to Hazel Smith, Lincoln Public Schools director of adult distributive education.

She said she hopes more persons will register for the Tuesday evening class than have so far. Students will be able to get adult high school credit, she added: those who are teachers will receive professional growth credit.

Co-sponsored by the schools and the Chamber of Commerce, the course's purposee is to inform ordinary people about how American politics operate, from precinct level on up.

Edward F. Carter Jr. is the instructor. Registration can be made in Room 112, Public Schools Administration Bldg., 22nd and G.

Mrs. T. R. Wood Dies At Seward

Mrs. Theo R. Wood of Seward, widow of 4-time State Sen. Fay Wood, died unexpectedly at her home Friday. She was 71.

Funeral of Mrs. Wood will be Monday at 2 p.m. at the Seward Methodist Church, the Rev. John Ekwall officiating.

Mrs. Wood's late husband was a funeral director and served in the Legislature for the 1945, 1947, 1949 and 1957 terms. Colleagues considered him one of the most popular and able leaders in the Unicameral.

Mr. Wood had served several terms as mayor of Seward and on the Seward City Council. He was active in civic, fraternal and church organizations, having been past state governor of Rotary and a past president of the volunteer firemen.

Mrs. Wood is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert Boyce of Seward, and 3 grandchildren.

Mrs. Webster's Funeral Monday

Funeral of Mrs. Carrie A. Webster, 72, of 1555 So. 20th, will be Monday at 11 a.m. at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, the Rev. William Cross officiating.

Mrs. Webster, who died Thursday, was the widow of Dr. Fred W. Webster and mother of two Lincoln physicians, Drs. W. Wallace and Fred Webster.

Farm Proposals Reviewed By Managers, Appraisers

An estimated 150 farm managers reviewed farm policy recommendations in the annual meeting of The Nebraska Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers Friday at the Cornhusker Hotel.

The association is made up of members who devote the major part of their time to the management of farms belonging to others or to the appraisal of farms and includes members engaged in teaching, research or extension work in the field of farm management.

Ralph Cole of Lincoln, national secretary of the Farm Policy Council and a member of the President's Feed Grains Committee, reviewed the feed grain program presented to the Senate Agricultural Committee.

Members studied appraisal recommendations associated with condemnation proceedings on the afternoon program.

Wayne A. Wolfe Is Found Dead

Wayne A. Wolfe, 62, of 1416 So. 12, was found dead at his home Friday afternoon.

Dep. Sheriff Norman R. Monroe, acting coroner, had no report on the cause of death, the sheriff's office said late Friday night.

Lincoln Police said Wolfe was found in the garage where the car's engine was running.

Action Angers Jensen

Michael Russillo of Omaha and Jack Romans of Ord.

Again Monday

The resolution will come before the Legislature again Monday for action, and appears headed for a public hearing before the Agriculture Committee.

A show of 5 legislative hands upon a motion to refer the matter to committee would be sufficient to do so.

Russillo attempted to take such action Friday, but the Jensen motion to suspend the rules took precedence.

"There is a need for haste," Jensen told the Legislature.

"It is imperative that we move fast if this is to be of any benefit to agriculture."

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth noted that the plan is "a program for 1961" and a possible delay of two weeks in sending the resolution to committee would damage its effect.

Romans suggested that Jensen was attempting to "jam through" the resolution.

Embarassing?

Sen. Edwin McHugh of Murdock asked if legislative action might "embarrass our congressmen."

The feed-grain plan, Russillo said, is "probably what Secretary (of Agriculture) Freeman will submit as an administration farm program."

Nebraska legislators should study the plan and listen to arguments in public hearing before acting, the senator noted.

Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island said the matter should be carefully studied "before it is endorsed by a Republican state and passed by a Republican legislature ...that is, a legislature of a Republican state."

Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt suggested that the feed-grain plan is "actually nearer to what we would have had if the Republicans were in office."

Waldo, a Republican, is a member of the Farm Policy Committee.

Signing the resolution were Sens. Jensen, Ruhnke, Waldo, Gerdes, Claussen, Erlewine, Stryker, Burbach, Moulton, Gerhart, Bowen, Marvel, Knight, Orme, Vosoba, Kjar, Adamson, Rasmussen and Fleming.

The vote on Jensen's motion:

For: Adams, Bowen, Burbach, Claussen, Craft, Erlewine, Fleming, Forrester, Gerdes, Hasebroock, Jensen, Kja Moulton, Munnelly, Nelson, Orme, Rasmussen, Ruhnke, Skarda, Stalder, Stryker, Vosoba Waldo Webb.

Against: Adamson, Brandt, Bridenbaugh, Gerhart, Knight, Lautenschlager, Marvel, McHugh, Romans, Russillo, Staubitz, Syas.

Not Voting: Diers, Peck, Thompson.

59 New Judges Asked

Washington (AP) — The Kennedy administration moved Friday to try to cash in on a big patronage wager which the Democratic leaders in Congress made last year.

President Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, submitted to Congress a bill calling for creation of 59 more federal judgeships.

The Kennedys said this many more judges are needed to relieve a judicial logjam which has been piling up since 1954.

Former President Eisenhower tried to get more judges, but the Democratic-controlled Congress was unwilling to create a bloc of judicial posts that Eisenhower could fill with Republicans.

Demos Said No

Finally, as complaints of overcrowded court dockets mounted, Eisenhower offered to divide the new appointments evenly between Republicans and Democrats. Reacting to this, the House Judiciary Committee last June produced a bill to authorize 35 new judgeships, but the Democratic leadership had other ideas.

Party strategists decided on an all-or-nothing gamble and let the bill die. When the vote for President was counted last November they figured they had won.

3 Plead Guilty To Armed Robbery

Benkelman (UPI) — Three McDonald, Kan., youths pleaded guilty to armed robbery charges and waived preliminary hearing at Dundy County Court here.

Acting Dundy County Judge Leon Ketter set bond at $5,000 each for Donald Hartman, 19, and Jerry Lee Hopkins, 19, and at $500 for Clinton Hopkins, 17.

The were charged with the robbery of Fletcher's Four-Corners Service Station here. The boys were later arrested at McDonald.

Ketter said the trio will be arraigned in Dundy County District Court on Feb. 27. They had not posted bond and were being held in the Dundy County jail here.

Mother Nature touched Nebraska with her magic wand Friday and the state got warmer. More of the same—almost—is expected Saturday, the weatherman said.

Although the Panhandle will be generally fair and have no important temperature change, it'll be turning cooler in the west and increasingly cloudy in the east Saturday.

Highs Saturday will be between 45 and 55 east and 50 and 60 in the Panhandle.

In mid-weekend, a few light snow flurries may fall in the extreme north.

Lincoln's modest high was 53; the gentle low was 24.

Dousers Taken

Fire extinguishers were reported stolen from two apartment buildings Friday. Each was valued at $45.

Gentle Boom Lowered On Fearsome Benzedrine Spy

London (AP) — A magistrates court lowered a gentle boom Friday on the fearsome career of Bryan Scott—bloodthirsty master spy and compulsive drinker of coffee with benzedrine on the side.

Scott, a 19-year-old former radio operator in the Royal Navy, pleaded guilty to violating the British official secrets act.

He was sentenced to one day in jail.

Russian Spy

Scott was marched into the Chelsea police station two weeks ago at the point of a gun (his own) by one Stewart G. Rains, 26. Rains said Scott picked him up in a coffee bar, confided he was a Russian spy, and stated he had acquired 10 typewritten pages of Royal Navy secrets which could be sold for 100 pounds ($280) a sheet.

Rains said he pretended to fall in with the plan and they moved from coffee bar to coffee bar discussing possible buyers for the goods. In between coffees, Scott stoked up on benzedrine tablets to keep his mind alert. This went on for several days.

Eventually, Rains said, Scott produced a pistol and asked: "would you like to make 100 pounds in 10 minues, even if the risk was great and there might be killing?"

Too Much

This was too much for Rains, he told the police. He insisted Scott give him the pistol. He then trained it on the youth and walked him to the station.

In Scott's room police found some secret, but not very important, documents having to do with Navy communications systems. They also found a book entitled "K 14 O.M. 66—Adventures of a Double Spy."

Scott's lawyer said the youth "never had the faintest intention of giving away secrets to anybody who was an enemy to this country." He added:

"The story he told Rains resulted from a combination of too much benzedrine and too much reading of penny novelettes."

Edwin Gilmour, Druggist, Dies In California

Funeral of Edwin P. Gilmour, 80, former Lincoln pharmacist, will be Monday in Compton, Calif., where he died Thursday.

Mr. Gilmour, who left Lincoln 25 years ago, managed the former Harley Drug Store at 11th and O for 20 years.

A nephew is Lincoln pharmacist Robert H. Gilmour, past president of the Lancaster County Pharmaceutical Assn.

He is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Compton, and a brother, J. G. Gilmour of Lincoln.

Peoples Ins. Co. Year Is 'Fairly Good'

"Last year was a fairly good year" for the Peoples Accident Insurance Co., according to the firm's vice president and assistant secretary, A. W. Mason.

After the annual stockholders meeting of the Lincoln home company Friday, Mason said that business picked up toward the end of 1960.

The upward trend is continuing so far in 1961, he added.

John E. Van Vliet, company president, was re-elected a director for 5 years.

Other officers re-elected include Mason; J. P. Van Vliet, vice president; C. P. Van Vliet, secretary-treasurer; Joe R. Evans, supervisor; M. M. Williamson, assistant treasurer; Dr. Louis W. Gilbert, medical director, and Littrell and Patz, general counsel.

Incumbent directors are Joe R. Evans and J. P., C. P. and A. G. Van Vliet.

France Regrets Attack

Paris (UPI) — France Friday night expressed "sincere regrets" for the buzzing and warning shots fired at the Soviet presidential airliner by French fighter planes Thursday off North Africa.

The formal apology, was issued after France had accused President Leonid Brezhnev's Ilyushin-18 airliner of being in a "danger zone" off Algeria en route to Rabat, Morocco. The incident touched off a nationwide anti-French campaign in the Soviet Union with mass meetings and denunciations of French "banditry" in the Soviet press.

The French note of regret was presented in Moscow in reply to a Soviet note denouncing the incident and demanding punishment for the "culprits."

Only A Preliminary

France said its reply was only a preliminary one pending conclusion of an investigation into the incident which one high French official called "regrettable."

By Stanley Johnson

Moscow (AP)—Citizens of Moscow are louder in their denunciation of the French buzzing of President Leonid Brezhnev's plane than they were about the U.S. U2 spy plane episode.

The angry Soviet press and radio denunciations of the incident off Algiers were expected. More surprising were the spontaneous statements of Muscovites to Westerners before the Moscow Radio laid down the line.

Auman Funeral Set For Monday

Funeral of James W. C. Auman of 1620 Roselyn Terrace will be Monday at 2 p.m. at the Firth Bible Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Alfred Paashaus officiating.

Mr. Auman, who died Friday, was one of the state's oldest licensed embalmers and funeral directors.

Licensed in 1917, he operated a Firth mortuary until 1931. He was in recent years, after moving to Lincoln, an assistant at Umbergers Mortuary.

He was also an agent for the Home Insurance Co. and held the firm's 50-year service award.

Assailant Slugs Leading Horse

Pete Leading Horse, 25, of 128 No. 22nd, was treated at a Lincoln hospital Friday night after being struck on the head in his home.

Police are holding another 25-year-old man for investigation in the case. Officers said Leading Horse was struck from behind while standing in the kitchen of his home.

Speedup In Payments To Farmers Storing Government Grain Ordered

By Ovid A. Martin

Washington (AP) — The Kennedy administration is checking various federal farm programs to see if it can increase the flow of government funds to farmers to help stimulate economic activity in rural areas.

It already has announced a speedup in payments to farmers for storing government owned surplus grains on their farms.

Half the amount of money the government will owe farmers in the months ahead for storing surplus wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye and sorghum grain will be made right away. This will total $25 million. The other half will be paid at the end of the current storage season.

The department said this money would help finance spring planting operations. It said the boost in the housing loan program should provide added jobs in rural areas for carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers, electricians and the like.

The government also has increased from $40 million to $90 million the amount of money the Agriculture Department may lend to low-income farmers for farm housing and other farm construction.

It may add $35 million to the $197 million already provided for the current fiscal year to loans to low-income farmers to help them finance spring farming operations.

A check of the major farm subsidy program offers little help for the immediate future. Agriculture Department officials said the bulk of the $250 million provided for cost-sharing assistance to farmers for carrying out conservation practices in 1960 already has been spent.

However, farmers could quicken the flow of money from the 1961 version of the conservation program by making early order of lime, seed, trees and other materials used under the program and for which the government shares the cost.

Likewise, the bulk of the payments made growers for complying with the 1960 sugar program already have been made. Payments to wool growers under a wool production incentive program cannot be made until after the end of the current marketing season ending April 1.

Another action which may soon add to farm buying power is increases in price supports for some commodities. While these increases would apply directly only to crops grown and harvested later in the year, they can be expected to exert price-boosting effects on current market prices for these commodities.

Feeders Will Retain 'Hands Off' Policy

Omaha (AP) — The National Livestock Feeders Assn. voted Friday against deviating from its traditional "hands off" policy where government agriculture programs are concerned.

The question was raised in connection with Democratic administration proposals for a feed grain program.

In the final minutes of the association's convention here, several members observed that any feed grain program will be bound to affect cattle feeders. They questioned whether the association shouldn't appoint a committee to study the whole question and possibly be prepared to argue the fedder's case in Washington.

The suggestion was killed with a loud voice vote.

Throughout the convention the feeders have maintained, as they have in the past, that they want neither government subsidies nor controls for their business.

Earlier Friday the feeders adopted a resolution opposing any government programs which would create artificial prices in the livestock industry.

The resolution specifically objected to subsidies, incentive payments and production control.

E. E. Dubbert, Laurens, Ia., chairman of the resolutions committee, said the stand is aimed at "those who would involve feeders in federal programs."

In other resolutions the feeders asked Congress for protection from excessive imports through "realistic import quotas based on domestic supplies;" objected to a proposed compulsory federal meat grading bill, and called for a modernizing of the packers and stockyards act.

The convention adopted a resolution offered by its directors recommending the national livestock and meat board "aim at modernization of its effort" and also calling for harmony between that board and the national beef council.

Select Swackhamer

On the motion of Ray Baxter of Grand Island, the association voted to appoint a committee to study the situation involving use of feed additives and federal law governing their use.

Elected president, to succeed John H. Litzelman, Vermillion, S.D., was O. C. Swachamer, Tarkio, Mo. Elected vice president to replace Swackhamer in that office was Elmer Buffinton, Milledgeville, Ill.

Other new vice presidents are Robert H. Ray, Norfolk, Neb., and Don McMurchie, Centerville, S.D. Dubbert was re-elected as a vice president.

Ping Pong Scores Hit As Polio Fund Project

By Dean Terrill
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Pawnee City—Mother's marches and pancake feeds and community auctions are OK as fund-raisers, but there's a polio project here that's even more painless. It's ping-pong.

Men and boys' tournaments have kicked into the national foundation's kitty, both through entry fees from the 28 players, and small admission for spectators.

"We haven't realized a lot of money this year, but it's been successful enough that we're already talking about a 'second annual tourney'," explained Don Sherrill, county agent who headed the promotion.

An exhibition match between senior winner Albert Christensen and junior champ Darrell Wyatt should bring more funds, since the hat is being passed soon at their basketball intermission appearance. Incidentally, both received attractive walnut trophies made and donated by high school instructor Ronald Ganzel.

Backed by Mrs. Fred Westerman and Mrs. Erwin Smutz, county and city chairmen of the March of Dimes, the tourney was sponsored by local Rotarians.

One thing for sure, nobody can accuse the promoters of putting on the benefit to show off their own skills with a paddle. Grand loser was Max Martin, Pawnee Republican editor and one of the project's sparkplugs.

"At least I wasn't that lousy,' equipped Sherrill. "I was a whole notch above him."

Discussion Of Judaism Slated At Omaha Temple

Omaha (AP)—Christian clergymen from Omaha will gather this month in a Jewish Temple to discuss Judaism with Jewish scholars.

The clergymen, from Omaha and nearby towns in Nebraska and Iowa, will convene in the sanctuary of Temple Israel, as they have for almost quarter of a century, for the annual Institute of Judaism of Christian Clergymen. About 200 are expected.

They will spend a full day at the Temple on Feb. 17 to hear scholarly discussions of Judaism. They will be free to comment from the floor and contribute to the discussion. Many a pointed question will be asked. Differences between Christian and Jewish beliefs will come up for discussion and there will be questions and answers about the Jewish view of Jesus.

Beermann Will Help Hooper Obtain Doctor

Washington (AP)—Rep. Ralph Beermann, R-Neb., is preparing a bill to permit Dr. John Arzaga, a Philippine native, to practice at Hooper, Neb.

The measure would waive the residence requirements of the immigration act to permit Dr. Arzaga to take up practice as a physician at Hooper.

Beermanr said various people in Hooper have told him Dr. Arzaga is eager to go to Hooper. He is now at Sunland Medical Center, Orlando, Fla.

Nebraska's Share Over $5 Million

Nebraska farmers with 76,120,000 bushels of grain restored from 1956 to 1959 crops will share advance storage rental payments estimated at more than $5,000,000 according to an order issued by President Kennedy Friday.

Kennedy asked that storage payments designated for payment during 1961 be stepped up with one-half of the storage rental payments to be paid by early March.

"This action is taken in recognition of both present economic conditions and the unfortunate cost-price squeeze on America's farmers," the White House said.

The payments will amount to 7 cents per bushel on corn, wheat and barley. Oats will qualify for a 5 cent per bushel payment and grain sorghums 12 cents per cwt., according to James Newton, state commodity loan supervisor.

Road Building Would Suffer If Gas Tax Cut

. . . Declares Crosby

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska road building program "would suffer desperately" if the 7th cent of state gasoline tax were to be removed at this time, former Gov. Robert B. Crosby said Friday.

Crosby who is president of the National Good Roads Assn., made this statement in a talk before the Omaha Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee.

Crosby said that while Nebraska has "been going as fast as our money permits" in highway building, the state still ranks low among the states for the portion of Interstate Highway completed.

It would be inadvisable, he said, to drop the 7th cent of gasoline tax, which yields about $5 millions annually, unless some way is found to replace it and "I don't know what to replace it with."

Against Change

Crosby also said he is not in favor of changing the Nebraska Highway Commission to an executive type commission. Under the present system, whereby the governor appoints the state highway engineer, it is possible to "pin point responsibility," he said.

Both proposals are expected to furnish lively controversies during the current session of the Legislature.

Crosby said it appears there also will be many controversies before the Congress on highway problems in the coming session and 1961 "is apt to be a year of decision" on roads.

Under present federal law the 4th cent of federal gasoline tax is due to expire June 30 and the revenue it produces would be replaced by one-half of the 10% excise tax on automobiles and five-eights of the excise tax on parts and accessories.

Although this figure would be adequate to replace the 4th cent of gasoline tax, Crosby said, it would no longer go into the general fund and Congress would be faced with the problem of finding general fund revenue to make up for the loss.

The only answer apparent at present is an increase in income taxes, he said, adding that this obviously would not be a popular solution.

Gets Hospital Post

St. Paul—Orval Jepson was named administrative head of the Howard County Community Hospital here.

Beatrice Girl Block, Bridle Club's Queen

Judy Maranville of Beatrice was named Friday as queen of the University of Nebraska's Block and Bridle Club.

She will reign over the club's showmanship contest Feb. 18, and the annual honors banquet April 21.

Other finalists were Mary Ann Wetzell ot Lincoln, Lorraine Harris of Mitchell, Dorothy Sedlak of Clarkson, and Connie Sterner of Franklin.

Rosenzweig Charged In Card Racket

Omaha (AP) — Thomas Bradley Rosenzweig, 21, of Omaha was charged Friday in connection with distribution of phony draft cards.

The charge, filed by assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Skutt, was the first in an effort by local, state and federal officials to break a fraudulent identification card racket.

U.S. Commissioner Anthony Z. Donato set bond of $1,000 on Rosenzweig.

Rosenzweig is a self-employed commercial artist. He was charged in 4 counts extending from Oct. 1 to Jan. 3.

During that time, Skutt charged, Rosenzweig delivered 13 fake selective service cards to two persons "for the purpose of aiding and abetting of false identification."

Ralph Beubsam of the police vice detail said earlier in the investigation the phony documents were printed in Omaha. He described it as an "adult operation" although the cards were being sold to minors who used them to buy liquor.

This investigation was related to the discovery that a large number of ficticious Nebraska driver's licenses are being carried around Nebraska by minors.

(A nineteen year-old University of Nebraska student was found guilty of misrepresenting his age with fictitious identification cards and fined $15 in Municipal Court in Lincoln.)

Alvin Scissors, state director of motor vehicles, said about 1,000 such licenses were out in the state, and had been under investigation for about two months.

Most of the phony identification sales have been concentrated in Omaha and Lincoln, Scissors said.

Demand For Workers Off 'Markedly' In State

The State Labor Department said Friday that the state labor market in January, influenced primarily by seasonal and to some extent by nationwide factors, presented an unfavorable picture to the average job seeker.

Demand for workers was off "markedly" in most areas, the department said.

The net result was a decline in the number of persons placed on jobs by division offices in January this year compared with January of 1960.

Non-farm placements the past month totaled 2,986. This compared to 3,862 in December and to 5,680 in January, 1960.

Fewer placements were made in all industrial categories except construction where a small placement increase was noted.

The estimated unemployment in the Lincoln area in January totaled 2,950 for a ratio of 4.7% of the total area labor force. In Omaha estimated unemployment was set at 6,900 or 4.2% of the labor force in the Omaha area.

For the state as a whole, the December, 1960, estimated unemployment ratio was 3.5 of the state's total labor force. Nationally, the December, 1960, unemployment ratio was 6.8%.

State unemployment insurance payments in January totaled $1,208,170, compared to $708,528 in December of 1960 and $821,361 in January of last year.

An average of 10,923 persons filed claims for unemployment insurance each week in January compared to 6,701 in December and 8,659 in January of last year.

An area summary of labor market conditions follows:

Nebraska News

ALLIANCE: The number of persons registered as actively seeking work on Feb. 1st was 264. This is a 27% increase over the number a month ago.

BEATRICE: Shutdowns in construction and poultry and egg processing plants have caused a further increase in the number of men and women seeking work. On Feb. 1 there were 576 men and 168 women registered for work. This compares with 600 men and 154 women a year ago.

COLUMBUS: A continued seasonal rise in unemployment increased the number of job seekers registered with the office to 774, practically the same as a year ago. Layoffs in construction have resulted in more male applicants seeking jobs but demand for women workers exceeds supply.

FREMONT: Labor supply started to rise earlier this year than last resulting in an increase in the number of job seekers registered on Feb. 1 to 1,431, an increase of 100 over last year. Most of the increase is in the number of women job seekers. Layoffs have occurred in outdoor activities and in food processing plants.

GRAND ISLAND: Layoffs in construction have caused more people to file for unemployment compensation than a year ago. The office is, however, making more placements in industry than a year ago. A new plant will soon be welcomed to the city.

HASTINGS: New claims for unemployment insurance were fewer this January than a year ago. Layoffs occurring earlier this winter have resulted in a small increase in the number drawing unemployment compensation in January.

KEARNEY: The seasons high in unemployment is expected by mid-February. Feb. 1 totals exceed those of a year ago by 20%. Plant closings in the area plus temporary cutbacks in production and processing have swelled normal unemployment totals. Employment opportunities have been extremely short.

LINCOLN: Area employment dropped 1,800 workers during January with the most significant downward movements in retail trade, construction and agriculture. Unemployment expanded to 1,200 above December to a level of 2,950, which is 750 higher than in January a year ago.

McCOOK: Only 239 workers are listed as active job seekers with the office compared with 386 unemployed one year ago. Most of the unemployed are either construction or electronic workers. Good winter weather has permitted some construction work. Employment in oil activity and trade remains steady.

NEBRASKA CITY: The usual winter increase in labor supply was evident with 929 applicants registered for work on Feb. 1 compared to 660 a month ago and 902 a year ago. The increase in the past month was in both men and women. Job placements continued on a par with December.

NORFOLK: The 933 unemployed job seekers registered on Feb. 1 with the office is about 10% under the count one year ago. Demand was about normal for the month of January. The office filled more good year-round jobs in trade and service industries than a year ago.

NORTH PLATTE: The number of persons with applications on file at the end of January was 671 as compared with 588 at the end of December and 500 in January a year ago. Demand for workers in nonfarm employment increased after a continuous three months drop.

OMAHA: New applications for work in January were 9% below December and about the same in number as a year ago. Initial claims for unemployment insurance decreased slightly to 2,784 from 2,843 in December. Continued weeks claimed were 56% higher than last month and 60% more than a year ago.

SCOTTSBLUFF: Demand for nonfarm workers varied but little from the past month. The supply of workers increased from 536 in December to 703 at the end of January. Most of the increases are due to the completion of the sugar campaign. Demand for agricultural workers was light.

SIDNEY: The 293 job seekers registered with the office is about a 40% increase over the count of a year ago. About half of this group are from seasonal employment — mainly construction. Labor demand during January was about equal to December's but was down slightly from January last year.

The Nation's Health

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

As has been suspected, Congress has once again been handed the problem of medical care for the nation's aged. And there is no doubt that predictions as to its controversial nature will also be fulfilled. Basically, there are three areas of controversy—political, economic and need. One political argument has it that the health of citizens is not a matter of government concern and the other such argument says just the opposite.

If this were the only thing involved, the latter argument would by far have the best of it. Any system which maintains that the health of people living under it is of no concern is a system that might as well be discarded. There is too much of a generalization among many people in this area of what is the government's business and what isn't. Everything is the government's business in a broad sense but the government enters things only under certain conditions. Basically, the government does not do those things which are being adequately done in some other way.

Government's Role

In the matter of health care for the aged, this immediately brings us to the question of need. The fallacy which often prevails in this consideration is that activity alone is proof that things are being adequately handled. But there are always questions of degree which should be answered before the issue of government intervention is decided.

The need for medical help for the aged is attested to in a number of ways. For one thing, a medical aid program tied to Social Security would not be proposed by any administration unless it was felt that it was needed. Many who oppose Kennedy's approach agree with his objectives but they want a program administered through the states and with matching state and federal aid.

In advocating this, they are admitting to a need but they are working to defeat its satisfaction. A state and federal program independent of Social Security was passed by the last Congress but it has been a flop to date. Most states can't even understand it and few of them have any of the money needed to take part in it. Nebraska is one state which would probably never be involved in any such program. Such an approach is really nothing more than what might be called a change in venue but the change is not sought for the usual reason of equality or justice.

Rather, the change is sought for injustice. It is meant to make a battleground over aid to the aged in each and every state rather than at the centralized federal level. Opponents of medical care to the aged realize that if they lose at the federal level, they have lost everything—one defeat and they are finished. But at the state level they can lose time and time again and still maintain victory in a majority of cases. Does this mean that the states, therefore, don't want medical aid for the aged and it should, therefore, be turned down?

In the case of some states, the answer might be "yes" but in most states it would not be so. The question is not what the states want but what they are able to do and the fact is that they can't even meet routine welfare responsibilities on anything other than a very minimum level. This is why many people advocate the state aid approach to medical care for the aged—they know this, in reality, will defeat the program.

The question of need is further answered in the statistics on the cost of medical care. Many people do have private medical care insurance programs and the number is constantly increasing, but medical costs are managing to stay well ahead of the game. With the average medical help insurance program of today, a serious illness or even a moderate one can still leave a person destitute.

And not all the people over age 65 have a private health insurance program. The economic question involved hardly has even two sides to it. A self-supporting program under Social Security is by far superior to any program financed through regular taxation. Most existing systems of taxation are already overburdened and the federal government is certainly no exception to this. The objection that not everyone is covered by Social Security and would, therefore, not benefit from a program approached through this system is largely without merit. General tax-supported programs enacted to date and even those suggested would fail to cover a multitude of needs because of the maximum limitations that are placed upon them and their lack of utilization by the various states.

Part Of Social Security

The question of spreading the benefits has been a smoke screen as it has been presented to date. Few questions are ever all one way and none the other and this one is no exception, but Kennedy's program has far more advantages than any other currently in the works. It would be a definite improvement over the subterfuge approved at the last session of Congress.

Case Of Resourcefulness

President Kennedy has directed that on-the-farm grain storage payments be made on a new schedule, one half in March and the remainder in the late fall when formerly the whole amount was due and payable.

The change will not add more dollars to the farmers' income. Rather it is an exercise in timing, the effect of which is readily apparent. First it will give the crop producer some additional cash in hand at a time of year when it will be especially useful. Second it will pump about $25 million into the national economy at a time when business can well use it. The move, therefore, will both contribute to national recovery while performing a beneficial service to agriculture.

It is one of the encouraging things about the new administration, a sign of an active mind with a gift for resourcefulness. These faculties have shown themselves in a number of instances. One was 18 specific ways to combat the outflow of gold, instead of one way, or no way. Another was a variety of specific low cost ways to alleviate regional pools of serious unemployment. It is apt to be in evidence in the administration's dealing with Khrushchev and a welcome switch from the days when he was doing the proposing and we were occupied with defense. Resourcefulness is the greatest of competitive weapons and the surest way to regaining the initiative.

The precedent of early and timely payments of government obligations is one of some age. It was used freely during the early days of the depression by FDR. Critics at that time attacked it as a vote getting device. But such a criticism cannot lie in this present instance. There are no elections due for next March.

The Greatest Republican

Over the week end the air will ring with tributes to Abraham Lincoln because Sunday will be the birthday of that great and beloved American figure.

Much of what he did and stood for is common knowledge to Americans of all ages and needs no repeating. But it is a good time to recall that he was one of the instrumental figures in the founding of the Republican party, an event that took place at Ripon, Wisconsin, in time to nominate James C. Fremont as its first presidential candidate. Fremont didn't win, but four years later Mr. Lincoln became the party's second nominee and its first president. What he was and what he did proved he was not only the party's best all time choice, but the greatest single guarantor of the party's long existence as a major force in national politics. Yet it is questionable that his party would nominate him today for he was a great liberal. By his design an emancipation proclamation emanated from a struggle to preserve the union. He was not sparing with government funds to encourage a transcontinental railroad. He warmly supported a Homestead act that virtually gave millions of acres of federally owned soil to willing pioneers—probably the greatest farm giveaway program in history, and the best in terms of the national welfare. But the land went to needing individuals and not to economically entrenched groups.

The ultra reactionary element of his party today should reflect upon the Lincoln philosophy for it has lived on it for more than 100 years though ceasing to live up to it. They may find in that the answer to why they have not been able to elect a president since 1928 save for the one 8 year period when a great and beloved war hero with no previous political background temporarily bailed them out.

Corporate Image Is Tarnished

From The Denver Post

The profound ethical and business questions posed by the sentencing of 29 of the nation's largest electrical equipment manufacturers and 45 of their employes deserve thoughtful attention.

It is not enough to condemn, for this historic case goes to the core of the free enterprise system.

Seldom, if ever, have so many corporate images been so thoroughly tarnished.

The government built a case that read like a detective story — secret memorandums, clandestine meetings, special codes to designate companies and furtive phone calls in the night.

All this was designed to fix prices, divide markets and even control manufacturing.

In secrecy the companies in varying degrees substituted man-made rules for competition and set up a large-scale system of law evasion.

Through collusion they destroyed the sealed-bid system. Through their customers, both private industry and the federal government, the companies' action affects nearly every citizen because the equipment they sold is used to generate, transmit and distribute electricity to almost every home in America.

One problem common to business and industry is how to achieve stability.

Price-cutting can ruin a producer. And certainly the consumer benefits from a fair stable price.

The electrical companies apparently believed that the answer to stability lay not in an unrestricted marketplace but in enforced stability.

A major segment of American industry now finds itself in the paradoxical situation of having preached free enterprise and practiced a sort of collectivist philosophy.

No objective citizen will condemn all business and industry on the basis of the 29 companies.

But if free enterprise is to be preserved—and it must be — private enterprise could well re-examine its ethics.

Monopoly Trial Casts Shadow On Cordiner

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges has a problem on his desk, inherited from his predecessor, but made more urgent by the monopoly trial in Philadelphia. It's the problem of whether Ralph R. Cordiner, chairman of giant General Electric, should continue as chairman of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council in view of the jail sentence given to GE executives and the whopping fines slapped on Cordiner's company.

The Business Advisory Council is composed of supposedly distinguished law-abiding businessmen picked for the purpose of advising the government on important economic policy. They have been given special offices in the Commerce Department and special privileges not enjoyed by others.

Now it develops that the chairman's company has been guilty of participating in one of the most fantastic monopoly conspiracies in history, and has received heavy fines — a total of $437,500, which is a record.

One General Electric Vice President, W. S. Ginn, received the stiffest punishment of all — 30 days in jail, plus a fine of $5,000 in one conspiracy and $7,500 in another.

Other GE officials to get jail sentences were George E. Burens, vice president, and Lewis J. Burger, former general manager of GE Switchgear.

Even before Governor Hodges took office, Jim Carey, head of the United Electrical Workers, had asked Secretary of Commerce Mueller whether he was going to keep GE chairman Cordiner on the Business Advisory Council. Mueller ducked, passed the problem on to his Democratic successor. Now it's up to Secretary Hodges.

As governor of North Carolina, Hodges jailed Boyd Peyton, one of Carey's electrical workers, for illegal labor activities. Peyton got 6 to 10 years, in contrast to the 30-day sentences given GE executives. So a lot of people will be watching to see whether Hodges permits the head of a company whose vice presidents have been jailed for illegal business activities to remain in a trusted advisory position.

Diplomatic Appointments to come: Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, Dean Acheson's Harvard classmate, who has done an A-1 job in India, will be transferred to Brazil. . . . Clifton Wharton, former minister to Rumania, is slated to become ambassador to Norway. . . . Earl Smith, whom Ike made ambassador to Cuba and who is the golfing partner of President Kennedy, will be favored by the Democrats as well as the Republicans. He'll be ambassador to Switzerland. . . Tom Mann, now assistant secretary of state, will go to Mexico — though not until later. . . . Walter Ridder, Washington columnist for the Ridder newspapers, can be ambassador to Austria — if he wants.

Missile Gap Story Gives Aid To GOP

WASHINGTON—The missile gap SNAFU arrived just in time for the Republicans, whose nationwide spate of Lincoln day speeches is about to start.

National Chairman Thruston B. Morton had already urged all state chairmen to exploit this one to the utmost, even before President Kennedy at his press conference seemed to back away from campaign charges that the gap exists and is growing larger and larger.

Until then the Lincoln orators had not quite been able to find a handhold on the attractive new president. The party line suggested at national headquarters was a comparison of the 8 Eisenhower years with the condition inherited from the Democrats in 1953.

This was regarded as a natural reaction to Kennedy's emphasis in his inaugural speech and State of the Union message on the dark situation with which he is confronted everywhere. Politically, however, it was not exactly red meat. Except for a last minute campaign spurt, Eisenhower has been fading away more rapidly than most departing presidents and it is increasingly hard to raise even partisan temperatures about Truman.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Lincoln speaker most in demand has been Richard M. Nixon, who said "no" to everybody. He has advised the national committee that he will make no public engagements, party or otherwise, for two or three months —after which he will be "very active."

Second in line was Sen. Barry Goldwater, whom one wry tactician described as "almost overly generous" with his time. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York ranked third but will confine himself to New York state. Similarly Chairman Morton will devote himself to Kentucky for the same reason. Both are up for re-election next year.

☆ ☆ ☆

Actually, Republicans are short of nationally famed speakers with Eisenhower wielding a golf club at Palm Springs and the 1960 nominee bowing out of the picture.

It should therefore be a relatively quiet time. But politics never really stops in the United States: there will be 700-plus city, county and state elections this year, including two governorships—New Jersey and Virginia—and the fight for control of New York's city hall.

After Republicans pause for breath, Democrats will start their annual hymns to Jefferson and Jackson. The President can be expected to speak here. National Chairman Bailey will be widely available with especial emphasis on California, where Democrats always find it hard to get along with each other. The Kennedy secretaries of Defense, State and Treasury are to be excused from such party chores, but few others will be.

Fluoridation

Lincoln, Neb.

The California dentist who supported fluoridation asked a Lincoln dentist, Dr. Lopp, a question which is supposed to confound him and anyone else who dares oppose fluoridation. The Californian asked: "Where is the dividing line?" He wants to know why there is no similar objection raised against the addition of other drugs and chemicals to the public water supply for the prevention of disease.

Where is the dividing line? The question cuts two ways. Why stop at fluoridation? Why not add, let us say, tranquilizers to insure a contented citizenry protected from the tensions blamed by some as the cause of mental illness? Why not add sex attenuators to eliminate sex crimes? The absurdity of my examples is deliberate, and amounts to a demonstration that there is a dividing line beyond which the public has every right to stand up and say, "Stop!"

Why is fluoridation beyond the dividing line of public tolerance? It neutralizes nothing harmful in water. A hard-and-fast dividing line can be drawn with the cutting edge of the question: Does the proposed additive help supply pure drinking water, or does it not?

In his farewell advice to his countrymen, former President Eisenhower warned against the twin dangers of a powerful military lobby and of a scientific elite. The surrender of public judgment to a scientific elite has taken place in the complete support for fluoridation by many Lincoln PTA groups. A seemingly noncontroversial, amoral, strictly "scientific" solution is pushed which makes everyone feel holy, close to laboratory scientists, and far above dirty politics.

Holding the line of public welfare against a pseudo-scientific elite is not confined to the fluoridation issue. Mr. Eisenhower's farewell advice had implications much graver than any which might be attached to the fluoridation issue. There is, for example, the question of how much radiation exposure the public should tolerate based on risks decided by scientists coldly unmoved by moral values.

Closer to home, how much investigation has any public group done on the possible dangers of radiation from the Hallam atomic energy plant? Resistance to contamination of pure air is just as vital as resistance to additives to pure water. Let me invoke the authority of a Nobel prize winner and one of the world's greatest experts on radioactivity, another Californian, Prof. Linus Pauling. I have in my possession a letter from Dr. Pauling in response to my questions to him about the possible dangers from the Hallam plant. It is Dr. Pauling's opinion that an independent group of experts, independent of both the AEC and the local power company, ought to evaluate the dangers to the people of Nebraska from such a plant in their midst.

A world-renowned scientist of unimpeachable integrity has given his advice. Will the supporters of fluoridation who are supposed to be moved by scientific considerations campaign for such an investigation? Or is the fluoridation movement a cheap way of feeling holy without stepping on anyone's toes?

Tail Wags Dog

Lincoln, Neb.

We wish to commend you for your fine editorial, "History, In A Way, Repeats," in connection with the Congressional Rules Committee affair. This is top journalism and reporting at its best, and should be read and mentally digested by all voters and especially by GOP partisans who for too long have blamed a Democratic Congress for things done wrong or left undone.

As a matter of fact, at least 64 southern congressmen are Democrats in name only, for on some proposals they form a coalition with almost the entire Republican membership to defeat any forward-looking measures on the floor of the House.

Chairman Smith and Member William Colmer team up with the four Republican members of the Rules Committee to effectively prevent measures they wish to kill from being advanced to the floor of the House. Thus the GOP is equally guilty with the Dixiecrats of damming up proposals in the Rules Committee.

It is to be hoped that the device of Speaker Rayburn (the addition of three more members to the committee) will end the despotic rule of this combination.

A salute to the 22 progressive Republicans who possessed the intestinal fortitude to defy Boss Charles Halleck's orders and join Sam Rayburn in his contention that all proposals with merit are entitled to a fair discussion on the floor of the House. Too long has the tail of this committee been wagging the dog, and we hope this is the end of it.

A Dish Of Crow

Crete, Neb.

In the January 31 issue of The Star, I read the item on the Sportsmen's Club's meeting, where the council approved a resolution to launch a petition drive in favor of restoring the dove to the game bird list.

I am against the shooting of doves or any other of the songbirds. I would suggest that the sportsmen ask any farmer who, I am sure, would be glad to let them come and shoot all the sparrows and starlings they wish, as they are a nuisance. Those who are looking for big game should shoot and eat crow.

Some hunters are trigger-happy and will shoot at most anything, especially those who hate to walk. They drive along the road and shoot birds that sit on telephone cables. They don't realize that the bullets puncture the cables sometimes and the telephone company has trouble finding the cause. I heard they are having the same trouble in other states, too.

I am not accusing all the hunters of being careless, but there are some who shoot before they think. I myself liked to hunt at one time and am proud to say I never shot a songbird or even a quail.

I am not a farmer nor a telephone employe. This is only my honest opinion on hunting.

Two Versions

Lincoln, Neb.

Recently we were informed by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., certified public accountants of Chicago, in their survey covering the feasibility of consolidating certain functions of Lincoln and Lancaster County that "The city should turn over all assessing and tax-collecting to the county, thereby eliminating separate city offices" so that "estimated savings of $35,000 to $40,000 could be realized annually." And "The above recommendations and conclusions are not dependent on the outcome of the city-county building problem."

Later and after the release of the above survey, we were informed by Mr. C. C. Kimball, chairman of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Building Authority: "In order to consolidate, it will require more employes and more office equipment than either the county or city treasury departments now have in either department. I do not mean that it will require double employes and equipment, but certainly it will require some additions."

Now, who is kidding whom, and how do we reconcile these contradictory statements? Very obviously additional personnel and equipment will cost more money, so how could there possibly be savings of $35,000 to $40,000 if the proposed consolidation will require more employes and more office equipment? Perhaps these nebulous experts should compare their notes in advance of publication so their finalized conclusions may possess some degree of coherency as well as similarity.

According To Burke

New York, N.Y.

The poker-face Russian statesmen, Khrushchev, Gromyko, Zorin and others, are an ominous reminder that in this day of threatened social chaos which the Commies exploit, the words and wisdom of the renowned member of Parliament, Edward Burke, orator and essayist, should be consulted and pondered.

The "great pleader for conservatism," as he was called, once wrote: "The principles of politics are those of morality enlarged." This quotation may be claimed to be the basis of his political philosophy.

Burke was famous as a friend of the American colonists and oppressed Ireland. Prof. Harold Laski says of him: "Burke . . . the permanent manual of political wisdom without which statesmen are as sailors on an uncharted sea."

Let us hearken to the words of Laski on Burke.

Tax On Churches

Ord, Neb.

Right now the Legislature is trying to foist some new taxes on us. It may be that they have overlooked two good sources. Co-operatives compete with taxpaying firms and yet are not taxed. Nowadays churches are businesses. The Mormon Church is recognized so by Dun and Bradstreet.

The churches are schooled by efficiency experts on how to raise money. They have hospitals and colleges competing with state-operated ones. Ministers' children, with or without talent, get special rates in church colleges. The minister often drives a better car than the church members. He receives more salary than most of them. He has a manse to live in and is the recipient of many gifts. He has more days away from home and more hegiras than most of his congregation. Yet he pays no taxes.

When the churches give suppers and bazaars, they are in competition with taxpaying businesses. It places them in the educational and hospital business. There are many fine edifices. Why not tax them?

Sound Of Content

Lincoln, Neb.

I'm glad the state didn't pass the law allowing the killing of doves. It might not be a songbird, as "D. W." said, but its call is the most contented one of peace. If "D. W." is so miserable here because he can't kill off all the birds, why doesn't he go to a state where hunting is their occupation and not the growing of corn and wheat?

We still have meat markets. Let's leave the dove for folks like myself who enjoy their call. It's even mentioned several places in the Bible and my favorite is found in Jeremiah 48:28 where it says to leave the noisy city and go into the country of contentment as the dove.

We who have lived on a farm all our lives have enjoyed these little things while working in the garden or just walking to a store. People live so fast any more, they don't stop long enough for a breath of contentment.

Control Board Members Criticize Welfare Bill

By Don Walton

A bill to create an executive Department of Public Welfare operated by a 7-member policy board and a professional director drew opposition Friday from two members of the Board of Control.

The measure, LB113, was held by the Government and Military Affairs Committee for possible action at an executive session tentatively set next Monday at ' p.m.

At present, public welfare functions as a division under the Board of Control whose members also sit as the Board of Public Welfare.

Under amendments to LB113 proposed by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, members of the 7-member welfare board would be appointed to unsalaried, 6-year terms by the governor.

The board would then select a professional director (with at least 7 years experience in the field) and set his salary.

Mrs. Orme, chief introducer of the bill proposed by a 1960 Legislative Council study committee, suggested that the Government Committee might consider allowing the governor to appoint a director upon recommendation of the board.

Members Opposed

Board of Control members Harold Peterson and Mrs. Ethel Kirwin expressed opposition to the entire bill.

"It is ridiculous to suggest change just for the sake of change," Mrs. Kriwin said.

"There apparently is no firm feeling on just what type of change is desirous."

Further, Mrs. Kirwin suggested: "By the very nature of their work, the Board of Control and the Board of Public Welfare must work together."

Peterson contended that the present public welfare operation is "a good and economical program."

More Money

A new agency, he said, "would create additional state expenditures."

Questioned by committee members as to whether the Board of Control's 5-page statement of opposition represented the viewpoint of all 3 board members, Peterson replied:

"Mr. Leeman has not read all the statement. It represents a majority of the board."

Charles Leeman is chairman of the body.

Mrs. Orme suggested that the state's public assistance program is "now of such magnitude that it should function as a separate department."

Such was the finding of Legislative Council committees in both 1956 and 1960, she noted.

LB113, the senator said, would provide "a much more efficient way of handling the duties of a department which now spends some $40 million during a biennium."

Supporting the measure were the Rev. Carroll Lemon, representing the Nebraska Council of Churches; Mrs. Dudley Bailey, for the League of Women Voters of Nebraska, and Jack Evans, secretary of the Nebraska Assn. of Child Caring Institutions.

Opposing the bill were several county welfare board members and supervisors.

The committee also heard LB90, relating to street improvements in Omaha. It was held, following nearly two hours of testimony.

4 New Producers Out In Panhandle

Kimball (AP) — Banner and Kimball Counties got two new producing wells each in the last week.

In Banner County one well was the No. 1 Tart in the Mead Field. Operators are Jerry Slater, Zoller and Danneberg and Braden Oil Co. The other was Pan American's No. 10 Ostgren unit in the Vowers Field.

In Morrill County Skelly Oil Co. ran pipe on its No. 10 Lindberg in the Lindberg Field. South Texas Development Co., Dakota International Petroleum Inc. and American Mutual Oil Co. ran pipe on the No. 1 Lane in the Lane Field.

U.N. Pilot Complains

Railway Express Agency Closings Are Authorized

The Nebraska Railway Commission authorized Railway Express Agency, Inc., Omaha, to discontinue agency service at Madrid, Denton, Liberty and Rulo.

The commission also set a hearing for March 8 in the Columbus Court House on protests by 4 Nebraska railroad brotherhood associations to a reduction in train service by the Burlington Railroad.

The Burlington wants to reduce train service on trains from 6 days to 5 days per week between Lincoln and Columbus.

The brotherhoods are also objecting to a cut in train service by the Burlington on its run between Ravenna and Grand Island and Palmer and Burwell.

The commission set this protest for a hearing at the Burwell Court House March 9.

Protesting are the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive firemen and Enginemen and Brotherhood of Locomotive and Railroad Trainmen.

Other commission action:

—Granted Falls City-Lincoln Stage Line of Lincoln authority to increase bus passenger fares 5% on Nebraska intrastate traffic, effective Feb. 13.

—Granted authority to Omaha Tranist Co., Omaha, to increase fares on charter bus service involving only air-conditioned busses.

The hourly rate will be increased by $1 and the minimum charge will be raised $1.

MARVEL GETS A HATCHET

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings got a good natured spoofing from legislative colleagues for the firm-handed way he presides over the activities of his budget committee.

Marvel was presented with a decorative hatchet implanted in a base, presumably to aid him in managing his committee members.

In a brief acknowledging speech, Sen. Marvel noted that in the old municipal rivalry between Hastings and Grand Island, the hatchet was said to have been buried.

"Lautenschlager and I have solved the thing by burying it in each other's head," said Marvel, referring to Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island.

Sen. George Syas of Omaha called for the hatchet presentation.

AEC Proposes Nuclear Power Units Be Isolated

Washington (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission proposed Friday that all nuclear power reactors built in the future be isolated as a precaution against a reactor explosion. The distances from the nearest densely populated area would range up to 17.7 miles for the biggest plants now envisaged.

The plan was outlined in a "notice of proposed guides" designed to help prospective applicants for reactor licenses.

A spokesman told a reporter the proposed guidelines, which the AEC plans to put into effect if no serious objections are raised, "are consistent with what we've been doing all along, but this new action would put them on a formal written basis."

The commission proposed that, depending upon their power level, power and test reactors be separated from densely-populated communities containing more than about 25,000 residents by such distances as the following:

1. For a super-powerful device putting out about 1.5 million kilowatts of heat energy—much more powerful than any present civilian reactor—about 17.7 miles.

2. For an intermediate power level device of about 500,000 kilowatts—about 8.4 miles.

3. For a reactor of relatively low power, about 10,000 kilowatts—seven-tenths of a mile.

In answer to a newsman's queries, an AEC spokesman said all of the 3 major civilian power reactors already built are well outside the isolation limits proposed for reactors of their particular power levels.

These are the 485,000 kilowatt Yankee Reactor at Rowe, Mass., which is 8.3 miles from a dense population center; the 180,000 kilowatt Dresden Plant at Morris, Ill., 9.9 miles; and the Shipping-port (Pa.) reactor, which has a 231,000 kilowatt power level and is 5.7 miles from a dense population center.

In addition to listing distances from densely populated centers, the AEC also listed criteria for the following:

1. "Exclusion area"—the area immediately surrounding the reactor, where residence by people would normally be prohibited. Limits for such areas were listed at between 8-100ths of a mile and 7-10ths of a mile, depending on the power level of the reactor.

2. "Low population zones"—that is, the area immediately surrounding the exclusion area but containing relatively few inhabitants. Distance limits would range from between 5-10ths of a mile from the reactor to 13.3 miles.

Accident Victim Is Reported Satisfactory

J. Howard Dobbs, 29, of Denver, Colo., is in satisfactory condition at a Lincoln hospital, officials report, after the car he was driving struck a telephone pole at 15th and Garfield.

Police say Dobbs was thrown from his car and struck his head on the pavement.

JFK Picks Four To Conduct Study On The Machinery Of Government

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy Friday announced his selection of 4 advisers on reorganization of the machinery of government.

The 4, who will not work as a committee but as individual specialists, are:

Robert A. Lovett, New York investment banker, and former secretary of defense and undersecretary of state. He is a Republican.

Consultant

Richard E. Neustadt, professor of government at Columbia University, New York, who has been Kennedy's special consultant on organization problems.

Don K. Price, dean of the graduate school of public administration at Harvard, who was an organization adviser to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sydney Stein Jr. of Chicago, investment counselor, who formerly was an official of the Budget Bureau dealing with management and organization matters.

Senate Adviser

Neustadt also is adviser to the Senate subcommittee on national policy machinery headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., which for a year has been exploring methods of improving the government's machinery for making national security policy decisions. Lovett was among the committee's witnesses.

Kennedy said the 4 will be consulted in matters "where the disinterested advice of highly qualified and experienced men in private life may help us find effective solutions to problems of government organization and operation."

Kennedy simultaneously abolished two committees set up for somewhat similar purposes—the President's Advisory Committee on Government Organization, set up by Eisenhower in 1953, and the Advisory Committee on Management Improvement, set up by former President Harry S. Truman in 1949.

Kennedy thus followed one of Lovett's major recommendations on streamlining the government machinery—abolishing many of the numerous commissions, committees, and boards which have sprung up in Washington and which in many cases, Lovett said, have ceased to perform useful services.

Love For Dog Greater Than Love Of Home

A 12-year-old boy who told deputy sheriffs he had run away from home because his father was going to take away his dog is being held at a local children's home pending a Juvenile Court appearance.

Deputies said they picked up the boy and his dog Friday afternoon west of Lincoln. The boy said his father had threatened to get rid of the dog so he had struck out on foot for the Denver, Colo., home of his grandmother.

The boy carried a blanket roll but no money. He reported he had shared his last peanut butter sandwich with his dog for lunch.

Authorities said he will be allowed to keep the dog with him at the children's home.

F-1 Thrust Chamber Scores Power First

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. (AP)—A rocket engine chamber produced the most powerful thrust yet achieved by American rocketry in a few seconds' test Friday, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

The F-1 thrust chamber, built for the giant Nova deep space rocket vehicle of the future, was measured at 1.55 million pounds.

The greatest thrust previously achieved was 1.3 million pounds by an 8-engine cluster booster designed for the Saturn rocket vehicle. Poth are built by Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation.

The F-1 engine may itself be clustered for thrusts of 6 to 9 million pounds. It is scheduled for flight rating test in the fall of 1962, ending in early 1963.

The F-1 engine is a single unit designed to produce the same thrust as Saturn's 8 engines.

The H-1 engine now used in the Saturn is a kerosene-type fuel and liquid oxygen engine. It produces 188,000 pounds of thrust. All 8 engines produce 1,500,000 pounds thrust.

Friday's announcement emphasized that the firing was of a prototype thrust chamber, and not an entire engine.

The F-1 engine, itself, still is in the development stage.

It is expected that it will be completed by 1963 or 1964 in time for possible use in a fifth generation rocket.

The Saturn is a fourth-generation rocket and was scheduled for full flight tests in 1964.

The Saturn super booster is now being put through a final series of static tests here in contemplation of its launching possibly later this year. It will be launched at Cape Canaveral, Fla., with upper stages in ballast.

A series of captive firings of the new F-1 engine is being conducted at Edwards AFB.

A spokesman at NASA said the possibility of using the F-1 in multiple units, similar to the 8-engine Saturn, has been considered for some time.

Castro Men Have Sealed Off Rebel Force In Mountains

EDITOR'S NOTE—UPI Correspondent Henry Raymont has returned to Havana from a tour of the embattled Cuban interior. He was the first American newsman to travel the island since the Washington break in relations with Havana. Here is his report:

By Henry Raymont

Havana (UPI) — A massive deployment of Fidel Castro forces has succeeded in effectively sealing off embattled insurgent troops in the Escambray Mountains, according to reliable information received on a trip to the Santa Clara area.

This information, from both government and opposition sources, indicates that a double cordon of militiamen and hand-picked Castro Army units encircles the sprawling front.

These forces have stopped any reinforcements from joining the estimated 2,000 anti-Castro fighters nestling in the shrouded hills. More than a dozen small groups totaling some 100 men have been reported captured while seeking to join the guerrillas.

Only sporadic air-drops now are supplying the insurgents as the ring of some 30,000 blue-clad militiamen and soldiers have redoubled their vigilance over farmers suspected of co-operating with the anti-government elements.

But whereas both sides appear to be in agreement that the mounting 5-week encirclement has scored its first major success, they are widely apart in estimating the strength and durability of the veteran fighters dug in on inaccessible terrain and headed by seasoned former Castro commanders.

Ammon Seeks Re-election To School Board

Robert Ammon, one of two Lincoln Board of Education members whose term ends this spring, will run for re-election.

Ammon, 43, president of the Cushman Motor Co., has served on the board for 6 years.

Warren Parker, the other board member with an expiring term, previously announced he will not seek re-election.

Ammon is the first announced candidate for one of the two terms up for election in April.

ASC Meeting Expected To Attract 250

An estimated 250 Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation office managers and employes and committee members will attend the State Association of ASC Personnel meeting at the Cornhusker Hotel Saturday.

State President Donald A. Rapp of Sidney, office managr for the Cheyenne County ASC office, said "professional improvement and better service to the public will feature the study at our state convention."

Herbert E. Dyke of the Commodity Stabilization Service, Washington D.C., will address the convention.

H. Woodrow Jones of New Boston, Texas, national vice-president, will review national activities for ASC workers.

ASC workers emphasize that they are interested in employe welfare and public service, and that they support the county committee system for determining the policy of their offices.

Seward Woman Wins $15,000 In Crash Case

Mrs. Virginia Pieper of Seward was awarded a $15,000 judgment from Msgr. William A. Murphy of Minden Friday by a Lancaster District Court jury.

Mrs. Pieper alleged she suffered hip and thigh injuries and cuts when the pickup truck in which she was riding was involved in a 3-vehicle accident at 14th and Cornhusker last Apr. 5.

She had filed suit against Msgr. Murphy, Harlan E. Mann of 2834 Starr, the Abel Investment Co. and Abel Const. Co. and had asked $135,000 damages.

Mrs. Pieper contended in her petition that a truck driven by Mann was in collision with a car driven by Msgr. Murphy and that following this the truck, owned by Abel Investment and leased to Abel Const. Co., veered into the pickup truck driven by her husband.

The jury, in awarding her the $15,000, rejected the damage claims against Mann, Abel Investment and Abel Const. Co.

Ellis Armstrong Is Speaker For Civil Engineers

Ellis L. Armstrong, president of the National Better Highways Information Foundation, will speak Saturday at a conference sponsored by the Nebraska section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, officials announced Friday.

Armstrong, a former U.S. commissioner of public roads, was for many years with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation in Nebraska. He supervised all reclamation work in the McCook area, including Swanson reservoir and dam near Trenton.

Other speakers at the one-day conference will be Roy F. Warner, regional hydraulic engineer of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads; John W. Hossack, acting Nebraska state engineer; G. C. Strobel, acting deputy state engineer; A. H. Dederman, acting bridge design engineer; K. J. Gottula of the state interstate section, and several consulting engineers.

Arthritis Sufferers End Weather Chamber Test

Philadelphia (AP)—Two women, seriously afflicted with arthritis, Friday completed a month-long "vacation" in a hotel-like pressurized all-weather chamber.

One, a bit unhappily, went home Friday evening. The other, glad its over, leaves Saturday morning.

The two patients — Mrs. Reba McIlwraith, a 71-year-old Havertown, Pa., widow, and Miss Ethel Tankel, 41, Trenton, N.J.—were chosen to start an experiment that scientists said will take over a year to complete.

Two More

Next week two more women are expected to take their place in the $125,000 controlled Climate Chamber which was completed earlier this year in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital.

Mrs. McIlwraith, a spry little lady whose walk is slowed by her affliction, wanted to stay even longer, but her friends and relatives insisted she come home.

"I don't know what it was—the air, the bed or what," she said. "But I slept better than I ever had in the past 4 years—and without pills."

Different

Miss Talent, who spent many hours at the typewriter and watching television, said "the experience was different, and very tiring."

"But we missed those awful snowstorms," interjected Mrs. McIlwraith. "And, you know, we never found out which one snored—we slept so soundly."

Dr. Joseph Hollander, associate professor of medicine who is in charge of the project, said "we can't draw any conclusions on what we've done in the one month. We feel it will take at least a year to help find the answer as to why so many people with arthritis are affected by changes in the weather."

Comforts

The women had all the comforts of home living, but couldn't leave the small room and its connecting bath. There was TV, radio, telephone, books, typewriters, sewing machine.

They had visitors, too. Friends and relatives came frequently.

The patients kept separate diaries to describe their feelings at various hours.

Changes

Unkowning to them the weather in the room was changed at certain intervals. There were shifts, in temperature, humidity, barometric pressure, rate of air movement and air ionization.

Dr. Hollander said the two patients were wonderful, adding "it's really amazing how well they got along, total strangers."

A sign at the U.S. Navy's McMurdo Sound base in the Antarctic reads: There's no place like this place anywhere near this place so this must be the place."

LAFB Will Host 2,000 Children

More than 2,000 school-age children from throughout Nebraska will spend most of the day on Saturday, Feb. 18 visiting Lincoln Air Force Base where they will get a close-up look at some of Strategic Air Command's jet bombers and tanker aircraft.

The children, coming to Lincoln on a student's tour sponsored by the Burlington Railroad, will arrive in the city aboard 3 trains originating at Alliance, Falls City and McCook. Chartered buses will take them to the base.

In addition to having their mid-day meal at one of the Air Force dining halls, the students will get a lengthy guided tour of one of SAC's largest bases and its various aircraft.

Reveal BSP Queen

MRS. GLEN ANDERSON

Revealed as the 1961 Valentine Queen of Beta Sigma Phi sorority on Friday evening was Mrs. Glen Anderson of Beta Chapter.

Introduced to the members of the sorority and their guests at the annual Valentine dance held at East Hills Club, Mrs. Anderson was attended by Mrs. J. D. Miller of Xi Upsilon Chapter, and Miss Irene Karpisek of Kappa Chapter, who received second and third place in the selection of the queen from candidates representing all chapters of the sorority in the city.

Chairman for the dance was Mrs. Dale Smallcomb, who was assisted by Mrs. Darwin Bradley, and serving as judges were Victor Anderson, Robert McNutt and Donn Davis.

Extension Club Meets

Mrs. Walter K. Danley presided at the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Tea Time-Extension Club, held at the home of Mrs. William White.

A demonstration on making sunburst wall decorations was given by Mrs. White, and the lesson on, "Kitchen Cupboards", was presented by Mrs. John Stehr and Mrs. Jack Long.

During the meeting, the club voted to make Mrs. Robert Alexander, a 40-year member of the group, an honorary charter member.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	2 ♣	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	4 ♥	4 ♠	5 ♥
5 ♠	Dble.

Opening lead — four of diamonds.

Here is a hand from a recent pair tournament. As might be expected, many different results were obtained at the various tables.

Most of the North-South pairs got to four spades or five diamonds, making the contract in every case. Some were more ambitious, however, and arrived at six diamonds or spades, and the result usually depended upon whether declarer successfully guessed which way to finesse in spades.

At one table, oddly enough, where the bidding sequence went as shown, South became declarer at five spades doubled and was defeated when he ran into super-duper defense by the opponents.

West was very alert and found the only opening lead to beat the contract. He reasoned that East would not have bid four hearts vulnerable with only a four-card suit and that East therefore had to have five hearts.

Since East had overcalled originally with two clubs, thus showing longer clubs than hearts, West concluded that East's distribution was 6-5 in the two suits. It did not make sense to assume that East would double five spades with a singleton or void in trumps, so West assumed that the double was based on a void of diamonds and that East had 6-5-2-0 distribution.

Accordingly, he backed his judgment and led a diamond. East, who had doubled solely in the hope that his partner would read the actual situation, ruffed the diamond.

If East had gotten careless now and cashed the king of hearts, declarer would still have made the contract by guessing the spade finesse.

But East led back a low heart, despite the danger involved, and West won the trick and returned a diamond to give East another ruff.

Declarer was able to win the rest of the tricks, guessing the spade situation correctly, but wound up with a poor score on the deal — minus 200 points. Other North-South pairs were making a game or a slam with the same cards, but they had not run into the fine bidding and play that he had come up against.

Dear Abby--

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband hired a man to follow me. I noticed this man everywhere I went, so I finally struck up a conversation with him. We found each other to be very good company. He talked too much and now I have more on my husband than he has on me.

My husband was trying to get grounds to divorce me. He instructed this man to get grounds by hook or by crook. I don't believe in divorce and intend to stay married until the day I die. We have children and I don't want any scandal. Do you think a woman is foolish for hanging on to a man who will try everything under the sun to get rid of her? I still love him.

MARRIED FOR KEEPS

DEAR MARRIED: Giving a man a divorce simply because he wants one is, in my opinion, the poorest reason of all for severing the marriage ties. If you love him — hang on to him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am ten years old and have a question for you. How do you tell whether a goldfish is male or female? One of my goldfish has a dip in it. Could this be the female? I have three goldfish and would like to know. Please Yours truly. MARTHA J.

DEAR MARTHA: During the breeding season, which is from May to September, the male goldfish develops a white edge along his top fins. From September until May nobody knows but God and the goldfish.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a close friend who told me not to bring my baby over to her house any more because her dog gets jealous. I know this is true because I had my baby over there and her dog cried and carried on so terrible it ruined my afternoon. I like to visit with this person but I don't have anybody to leave my baby with. Don't you think, if she really cared for my company, she would lock up her dog for a few hours? Or is there a better solution I am overlooking? CLOSE FRIEND

DEAR CLOSE: Invite her to YOUR house. And ask her to leave her dog at home.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BUD": A very wise man once said, "Remember—on the day of your death, everything you possess in the world will belong to somebody else. But what you are will be yours forever."

THE SERVICE CIRCLES

BY GERI ROBERTS

Friday, February 11th! Only three more days until St. Valentine's Day, the "I Love You" day. It is a rather strange idea we sometimes have that love gives us the privilege of rudeness. This Valentine's Day and every day let's try to show the friend who so easily overlooks our faults the same fine courtesy we would show a stranger who would not overlook them. If your friend is a help, a joy, and inspiration to you TELL HIM SO! There are discouraged hearts everywhere just hungry for appreciation and sympathy.

There were, however, no discouraged hearts at the canape party given by Capt. and Mrs. Roy E. Clark. Food and friendship were in abundance, according to Capt. and Mrs. Les Walrath, Maj. and Mrs. C. O. Scott, Maj. and Mrs. Bruce Mills, and Maj. and Mrs. L. A. Shulgin.

Meanwhile, over at Capt. and Mrs. William Hamilton's, Mrs. Arnold Austin, Mrs. Art Handel and Capt. and Mrs. Philip Mulligan, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Patterson, Capt. and Mrs. Darrell Gallenberger, Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Laurin, Capt. and Mrs. Maurice Hatfield and Capt. and Mrs. Bill Johnston played duplicate bridge to their hearts content. The Hatfields were high and the Johnsons second.

Also on Saturday night, Capt. and Mrs. William Boede invited Maj. and Mrs. John McFadden, Maj. and Mrs. Oren La Plante, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Dorothy and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ralph Murphy to "come over for hors d'oeuvres" before departing for the Intercom Club and the Mardi Gras Ball.

More departures to fun times—Maj. and Mrs. C. P. Scott and girls are going to Osceola, Iowa, this week end to attend a smorgasbord dinner the friends at home are giving in their honor. Mrs. Jim Baker is out of town also. She has gone to Barksdale, A.F.B., Louisiana to participate in the various activities surrounding her husband's graduation from the NCO Academy.

Fortunately, all roads lead to as well as from Lincoln. Mrs. James Wilson arrived from Spokane, Wash., just in time to attend the surprise pink and blue shower given for her daughter, Mrs. Jean Sakry was the lucky honoree and the hostesses were Mrs. Rose Nystrom, Mrs. Dorothy Eastabrooks and Mrs. Carolyn Weidner. At the quarters of Capt. and Mrs. Don Luenenberg, Diane's mother, Mrs. B. F. Aron, has come from Crete to help care for the new baby, Tracy Lynn.

Last Wednesday evening Mrs. LaVonne Johnston hostessed two tables of dessert bridge. Bidding spades over hearts were Loeene Elston, Clare Trabun, Shirley Schmocker, Loma Austin, Cherry Watson, Eileen Weller and Marge Inderbitzen. Mrs. Inderbitzen was high and Mrs. Johnston was low.

Over on Michael, T.Sgt. and Mrs. T. C. Matlock bid a reluctant goodbye to their neighbors. Sgt. Matlock has been transferred to Goose Bay, Labrador. Friends hope the Matlocks can return to LAFB sometime for a visit as did Maj. Harry Pennington. The Major is now stationed at the K. I. Sawyer A.F.B., Michigan and is spending a few days with CWO and Mrs. John S. Rogers.

And in the quarters of Mrs. Richard Williford, several ladies had a pleasant time just getting to know one another. Speaking of time, Capt. and Mrs. Forrest Marvel are finding that time goes by much too quickly, for Mrs. Marvel's mother, Mrs. Edward Holycross, must return this week to her home in South Bend, Ind.

Capt. and Mrs. John Taylor have decided that since each minute appears to have sixty wings they must make the most of theirs. Dr. D. L. Thomas of Kansas City, Kan., has been their houseguest the past few days and this morning the Taylors are leaving for Ft. Dodge, Iowa, to visit Capt. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Kine. Then, on to Minneapolis, Minn. where Marty's grandparents, Col. and Mrs. Burt Webster; her parents, Col. and Mrs. Eric A. Erickson and the family of her brother, Capt. Erick A. Erickson Jr., are meeting to celebrate the latter's return from Korea. A four generation "Welcome home" party.

And now a reminder that "Tonight's the Night". Prior to the OWC Sweetheart Ball, Col. and Mrs. T. J. Gribble will entertain the 98th Bomb Wing Staff members and Squadron Commanders in their quarters. The formal dinner dance starts at 6:30 a.m. at the Officers Club. The Ladies of Note and several individuals have prepared a Valentine program which just oozes with love, love, love!

So — Slip into your finery and come have a ball!

SUBURBIA

CASINO HEIGHTS

The welcome mat is out this Saturday ayem for the George W. Metcalf family. Formerly living at 3640 X, the family's new Suburbia address is 5720 L.

PARK MANOR

A look in the birthday book for the month of February tells us that little John Camoriano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julio Camoriano, celebrated his fourth birthday anniversary Monday, Feb. 6. And three of his young contemporaries, Steven Olson, Steve Larson, and Joey Canney, joined him for an informal party at home that day.

And on the social calendar last night was an informal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilliland who with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Osborn entertained the members of the Lincoln High School athletic staff and their wives following the Lincoln High-Hastings basketball game.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Dick Beechner, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pfeiff; Mr. and Mrs. William Bogar, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Grell, Mr. and Mrs. Al Cavett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuklin, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Claussen, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Grosscup, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sommers, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Weyand, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sprague, and Mr. and Mrs. Alden Johnson.

In the news from the talcum powder set we have two of its new members to introduce to you.

The new member of the family of Capt. and Mrs. Peter T. Nichols is a son, David Peter, who was born on Wednesday, Feb. 1, at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Young David has a two-year-old sister, Kathryn Ann. Mrs. Nichols is the former Marilyn Kringlee.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Nichols of Berkeley, Calif. And the maternal grandmother, Mrs. N. A. Kringlee of Minot, N.D., currently is in Lincoln visiting at her daughter's home and getting acquainted with her new grandson.

The second newcomer to the bassinet brigade is Kathy Sue Matthes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Matthes, who made her debut at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Wednesday, Feb. 8. Kathy has two older sisters, Sharon Ann, who is eight years old, and ten-year-old Vicki Marie.

Mrs. Matthes is the former Marcella Kovar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kovar. And the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Matthes of Seward.

PATRICIAN HEIGHTS

In the change of address department for Patrician Heights we should mention that Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Flanagan and their five children, Nancy, Gary, Steven, Mark and Mitchell, moved Tuesday from their home at 825 Mahoney Dr. Their mail is being forwarded to their new address, 1320 Anthony Rd., in Wheeling, Ill.

Fun Night Chairmen

Committee members who assisted with the Randolph PTA annual Fun Night program and review, held Friday evening at the school, included Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harvey, tickets and finance; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, games; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilcox and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Weaver, check rooms; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boeckner and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Smith, snack bars.

Other chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Group, novelties; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Stevens, "T" shirts; Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hasty, candy; Mr. and Mrs. George Jensen, bake shop; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Cooper, popcorn; Dr. and Mrs. Bill C. Best, "free" room; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoyer, cokes; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Gibb, auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Thompson served as general chairmen assisted by Mrs. Ethel Baskins, principal.

Name that Lounge!

Names are now being submitted for the Lincoln Southeast Student Lounge. The lounge, completed last year has been nameless for some time. Sponsored by the LSE Student Council, the person submitting the winning name will receive 5 dollars worth of concessions. Everyone may enter; including the junior high. So get busy and Name that Lounge.

Last week was very important to the gymnastic and and swimming teams as they defeated their opponents to become Mid-East conference champions. The gym squad totaled 86½ points compared to Northeasts 71½. Beatrice had 54 and Hastings had 10.

Lincoln Southeast swimmers, the Mid-East Conference champs and unbeaten for three straight seasons now, met LNE and LHS in a swim meet Friday. The winner of the city meet became the city swimming champion and will receive the trophy.

Since there was a swim meet scheduled for 3 p.m. on Friday, the usual day for a school pep rally, the rally was held Thursday. Even though it was a day early, voices rang out with enthusiasm for the various teams in action this week end.

Last night the Knight basketball squad met the Pius X Thunderbolts at the Pius gym. Next week the LSE team travels to Omaha Westside.

Sledding is a very popular sport among Lincoln Southeast students. Whether it was at Pioneers Park, the south side of LSE building or in your front lawn it sure is a ball!

Members of the journalism staffs at Southeast have ordered either charms or pins in the shape of a shield as a journalism souvenir. These articles will have the name either CLARION or SHIELD on them, dependent upon which staff they represent. Ordered some time ago, some of the jewelry has been received while other orders are still to be sent.

A World Day of Prayer breakfast held for all high school students at Westminister church will be February 17, at 6:50 a.m.

Lincoln Southeast has become the winner in the city wide 'Teens Against Polio contest. By collecting money at games, standing on street corners, and using LSE club donations, the LSE'ers collected more money than either LNE, LHS, Uni High, or Pius X.

A trophy was awarded at the school pep rally Thursday and will be added to the collection in the trophy cases! The money collected will go to help in the research for a cure of birth defects and arthritis. GOOD WORK KNIGHTS!

LSE's Art Club presented the school with a Shield mosaic in black and gold, the school colors. Work on the mosaic was begun last fall and was completed just recently, presented, and now hangs in the front corridor.

Plan Summer Wedding

MISS LUCILLE JOY HUMPHREYS and her fiance, Michael. F. Knopp

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Humphreys have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lucille Joy, to Michael F. Knopp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Knopp.

Plans are being made for a late summer wedding.

PTA Meetings Scheduled

The February meeting of WILLARD PTA will be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, Feb. 17. The program highlight will be films on Hawaii.

The PRESCOTT PTA members will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the school auditorium. A program, "A Visit To Far Away Places," will be given by Larry Vaughan, and Miss Virginia Burns, a member of the faculty, will tell of her year spent in France.

Mothers of 3rd graders will be hostesses at a coffee hour in the school cafeteria.

CLUBS

The regular meeting of the Lincoln HADASSAH will be held Tuesday afternoon when the members will meet for a 12:30 o'clock coffee at Tifereth Israel Synagogue.

Mrs. Simon Galter will preside at the meeting, and a program will be presented by Mrs. Leon Israel, Mrs. Abram Misle and Mrs. Richard Pocras, who will discuss the Youth Aliyah project, which has brought 100,000 orphaned and homeless children from European and Asiatic lands to Israel.

Mrs. D. D. Peck will be hostess on Monday evening at her home, 2028 Jefferson Ave., to the members of CHAPTER EE, PEO.

The 7:30 o'clock program will include a constitutional study, and the reading of the president's annual letter by Mrs. H. F. Holstein.

The monthly meeting of the KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA MOTHERS Club will be held Thursday afternoon at the chapter house. A 1 o'clock luncheon will precede the meeting.

A program on, "Poise and Charm" was presented by Miss Jo Minor at the regular meeting of Beta Chapter, BETA SIGMA PHI, on Thursday evening.

Following the program, refreshments were served by Miss Norma Scneder and Mrs. Ted Woolery.

The members of Alpha Rho Chapter, BETA SIGMA PHI, were guests on Wednesday evening at a Valentine party for which Mrs. Lloyd Behrens, chapter sponsor, and Mrs. Russell Chesnut, member advisor, were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Behrens.

During the evening, the members exchanged Valentine gifts, and a program on, "Art," was presented by Mrs. Cleve Stauffer. The group chose a model and discussed plans for the sorority's city-wide style show to be held Feb. 28.

The JOLLY THURSDAY HOMEMAKERS Extension Club met for a 1 o'clock luncheon on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Paul Malzer. Guests of the club were Mrs. Charles Peck and Mrs. Marvin Weber.

Square Dance Party

All dressed up to welcome their guests on Friday evening were these three members of the Swing 'em In Gingham Square Dance Club, which entertained at a Valentine dance at the Antelope Park pavilion.

The "belles" (from the left) are Joe Booth, Roger Pearson and Glen Hart, who participated in an intermission skit for the club members and their guests.

Stop! Men At Work

We hadn't heard that it's 'paint-up-clean-up week", but we do know that the pledge class of Phi Delta Theta has been as busy as the proverbial beaver.

Well supplied with elbow grease and muscle the members of the pledge class went out to Whitehall on Friday afternoon, as they have done all week, and devoted their energies to painting, scrubbing and cleaning in general.

In the picture we find Dave May (left) wielding his brush, while his teammate in the painting department, Al Stadler, received his merit badge for his talent with a roller.

Entertains Conference Committee

Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel was hostess at her home on Friday morning at a coffee and meeting of the planning committee for the Governor's luncheon to be held in conjunction with the Nebraska White House Conference on Children and Youth.

The conference will take place on Friday, Feb. 17, and the noon luncheon for delegates will be held at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Attending the meeting was Mrs Clifford Jorgensen, conference chairman, and representatives of organizations which sponsor activities for children and youth.

Committee members include Mrs. Schimmel, who is vice chairman of the Governor's White House Youth Committee; Capt. Frank Johnson, Salvation Army; Mrs. B. R. Camp, Parent-Teacher Association; Mrs. Oliver Magee, YWCA; Mrs. Paul H. Thorough, CYO; Mrs. Ralph Beechner, Lincoln parks and recreation; G. W. Wilson, Boy Scouts; John Kahler, American Legion Post 3; Jim Robinson, YWCA; Mrs. Betty Shurtleff, Southwest Community Center; Mrs. Charles Otto, Camp Fire Girls; Mrs. Charles E. Sutton, 4-H Clubs; Mrs. Arthur F. Welty, Junior Red Cross; Miss Louise Morris, USO; Mrs. Richard Marshall, Girl Scouts; and Mrs. Frederick M. Waggoner, American Legion Auxiliary.

Marriage

Announcement is made this morning of the marriage of Miss Judy A. Lebsack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lebsack, Jr. to Harlan Hoy of Waverly, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hoy of Waverly, which took place on Sunday, Feb. 5. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Merlin Dane of the Havelock Christian Church at the home of the bride's parents.

For her wedding, the bride chose a daytime frock of lavender with a self-toned veil and carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Attending the couple were the sister of the bride, Mrs. Kay Spence, and Harold Jewett of Waverly.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Hoy will make their home in Waverly.

To Plan Regional Conference

When the members of the board of the North Central Region of Soroptimists and Venturists meet today at the Hotel Cornhusker, plans will be made for the region's 35th conference, to be held in Lincoln, April 21, 22 and 23.

The Soroptimist Club of Lincoln will be the hostess club for the conference, and named general chairman for the spring meeting is Mrs. C. M. Stewart.

Assisting Mrs. Stewart will be Mrs. Jo Jensen Bonebright, co-chairman and coordinator for Soroptimist committees, and Miss Anna M. Evans, co-chairman and coordinator for Venturists activities.

Social highlights for the conference will begin with a party "mixer" and will include a caravan tour of Lincoln, a Fun Fair, a luncheon for which Venturists will be hostesses, a formal banquet, an officers' reception, and a joint Soroptimist-Venturists breakfast.

Conference committees will include: auxiliary services, Miss Selma B. Anderson, Mrs. E. W. Johnson, Mrs. Fred J. Kundert and Dr. Sue C. Stevens; finance, Miss Clara L. Smith and Dr. Florence McKinney; credentials, Mrs. Forest Wilson; decorations, Miss Harriet Price and Mrs. John P. Ryan, co-chairmen, Mrs. L. L. Coryell, Jr., Mrs. Margaret Davis, Miss Clara A. Aronson, Mrs. Helen C. Calcaterra and Mrs. Johnson; entertainment, Miss Martha M. Bichel, Mrs. Julian S. Lyons, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Cox, Miss Ruth B. Hovland, Miss Anderson, Mrs. Ryan and Miss Price.

Other committees are: food and refreshments, Dr. Ellen Moorhead Ball, Mrs. Mary Lou Kohler, Mrs. Lois Lantz and Mrs. Kundert; hospitality and reception, Mrs. Lyons, Miss Aronson, Miss Hovland, Miss Bichel and Miss Marjorie Helen French; hotel arrangements, Mrs. Kohler and Dr. Ball; printing, Mrs. Ernest L. Ruhter, Mrs. Oliver T. Joy, Mrs. Coryell and Miss Evans; program, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Ruhter, Dr. McKinney and Miss Smith; publicity, Mrs. Bonebright and Mrs. Stewart; registration, Mrs. Wilson, Miss French, Mrs. Joy and Mrs. Lantz.

Morrison Still Opposed To, But Won't Veto, Sales Tax

Comments from Gov. Frank Morrison on tax matters and the possible establishment of an Insurance Commission were included among the myriad of items covered Friday in the governor's first full-scale press conference since he took office.

Noting that comments have come from some quarters regarding his stand on a broadened tax base, the governor:

—declared he has never changed his position on tax matters, observing that he was still opposed to a general sales tax and a general income tax, but also repeating that if the Legislature passed such a bill and it was "proper," he would not veto it.

"This would involve superimposing on the Legislature the will of the governor," Morrison said, adding that he intended using the veto "sparingly."

"I think we have a good Legislature. I think for me to superimpose my will is in the same category as the Legislature's telling me who I can hire and fire in my government family," said the governor.

Obbink Reference?

Although the comment was not questioned, nor elaborated upon, it appeared to be in reference to the fight Morrison faces in obtaining confirmation for his appointment of Jack Obbink as state aeronautics director.

—In response to questions on the possibility of having an Insurance Commission rather than a director, Morrison said he thinks the governor "should accept the responsibility of every administrator he appoints and I intend to accept that responsibility."

"I'm a little reluctant to see the powers of the office of Governor whittled down," Morrison added.

On still other matters, Morrison

—said he was hopeful that President John Kennedy would come to Nebraska in July or August to attend a George Norris centennial observance.

—announced that he has invited Gen. Joseph Trudeau, chief of Army Research and Development Program, to address the Legislature March 3 on civilian defense.

—stated that this was part of a plan for arranging public appearances by leading public figures in connection with matters of important public concern—a "Heartland Forum."

Three Children Ruled Delinquent

Three youths were found delinquent and a 4th found dependent and neglected by Juvenile Judge W. W. Nuernberger Friday.

A 12-year-old boy involved in shoplifting and a 13-year-old girl who had run away from home were both placed on probation after being found delinquent. A 14-year-old girl, also a runaway, will be given psychological tests before a disposition of her case is made.

The dependent and neglected finding was made in a case involving a 16-year-old girl. Her custody was given to the Juvenile Probation Office and she will be placed in a private home.

Plaintiff Seeks Larger Award

A damage suit involving a 1957 accident on Nebraska 2 between Thedford and Seneca was appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court Friday.

The action was started by George E. Smith against John Damato, executor of the estate of Mrs. Grace R. Damato, who was killed in the accident.

Smith, who was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Damato when it collided with the rear of a state road maintainer, requested $40,000 damages for injuries.

The district court for Douglas County awarded him $10,000, and he appealed.

8 Colleges To Participate In Debate Tourney

Students from 8 colleges representing 3 states will participate in a college debate tournament at Nebraska Wesleyan University Saturday.

Westmar College of Lemars, Ia., and Huron (S.D.) College will join squads from Kearney State, Creighton, Dana, Doane, the University of Nebraska and Wesleyan, to argue the standard college debate question for 1961: "Resolved that the United States should adopt a program of compulsory health insurance for all citizens."

Prof. Harold Sampson, Wesleyan director of debate, said the teams will register at 8 a.m. and will participate in 4 rounds of debate throughout the day.

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second place teams.

Electric Stock Drops In Face Of Suit Jitters

New York (AP) — General Electric and Westinghouse Electric stock dipped to 1960-61 lows Friday, reflecting investor jitters over their anti-trust troubles.

However, an avalanche of sell orders was met by strong buying support. Both issues rallied in very heavy late trading, limiting GE's loss to $1.50 a share and Westinghouse to 50 cents.

Trading in GE common on the New York Stock Exchange came to 414,000 shares, the heaviest share and dollar volume for one issue in years. The Westinghouse volume was 173,300 shares.

The GE turnover figured about $25 million.

The flood of selling delayed the start of trading in General Electric 2½ hours and in Westinghouse for 1 hour 40 minutes.

The initial bloc of GE was 215,000 shares, producing the largest single transaction in more than 18 months. It was last exceeded when American Broadcasting-Paramount preferred sold July 30, 1959 in a 240,768-share lot at $19.25.

The losses Friday were less than foreseen by some brokers during the delay at the start. One said after the session ended the performance of both stocks showed "smart money was buying rather than selling."

School Proposal Again Defeated

Lincoln Star Special

Blue Hill — For the second time in less than a year, Blue Hill residents Friday rejected a $550,000 bond proposal for the purpose of building a high school building and remodeling the existing structure.

The plan was defeated by an unofficial vote of 439 against, 309 for.

Observers said there was a good turnout of voters.

Open House Set

Beatrice — An open house for young men of the area and their parents will be held by Combat Support Company, 2nd Battle Group, Nebraska National Guard, at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 20, in the basement of the City Auditorium.

Walz Selected

Neligh—Earl Walz was elected president of the Antelope Memorial Hospital board. Other officers include Vic Walz, vice president; Harold Rice, secretary; and Ralph M. Kryger, treasurer.

CPPD Will Pursue Case

Consumers Public Power District told the Nebraska Supreme Court Friday it feels compelled to pursue its case against the Twin Valleys Public Power District until it is determined what power, if any, the State Railway Commission has to eliminate competition between districts.

The statement was in a reply brief filed in connection with the CPPD's case involving service to a microwave station in Harlan County.

The Railway Commission gave Twin Valleys permission to serve the transmitter, but CPPD said it should have been alowed to do it.

The main question, CPPD said, is whether the Railway Commission has jurisdiction for the regulation and general control of public power districts, as it has for common carriers.

The CPPD brief said it "does not wish to support as a desirable policy unlimited competition among public power districts."

However, until the supreme court decides on the Railway Commission's power, Consumers "feels constrained" to pursue the case "so that there will be a sound precedent for future conduct by public power districts in this field."

Hastings Seeks Frontier Meeting

Hastings (UPI)—City and chamber of commerce representatives hope to meet soon with Frontier Airlines to work out a plan to keep airline service in Hastings.

Bringing concern was the Jan. 26 directive of the Civil Aeronautics Board calling for an investigation of the southern Nebraska route being flown by Frontier.

Hastings is on the route and is the only city on it that has boarded the 5 passengers a day which has been set by the CAB as a minimum for the route.

Jack Obbink, state aeronautics director, told the chamber's aviation committee that the CAB could scrap the entire route or delete portions of it.

The committee, headed by William Latta, said it felt the best course of action would be to meet with Frontier and see what its feelings were concerning service to Hastings.

Mansion Operating Costs Studied

By Betty Person

A majority of the Budget Committee agreed Friday to a request from Gov. Frank Morrison that the committee make a special study of the needs of the Governor's office especially that of the cost of operating and maintaining the Mansion."

Budget Committee Chairman Richard Marvel appointed himself, and Sens. William Moulton of Omaha and Don Thompson of McCook as a special committee to visit with Gov. and Mrs. Morrison on the matter.

In a letter to Marvel, Morrison said he had removed himself from any determination on the amount of money to be appropriated for operating the Governor's Office and Mansion for the coming biennium.

He noted that the recommendation for these items carried in his budget message had been made at his request by former Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln (Morrison's budget adviser) and State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson, and asked that they be disregarded.

Morrison then noted that while his total budget recommendations were "less" than those of his predecessor, Gov. Dwight Burney, that Burney has commented to the press that he believes the "Liebers-Johnson recommendation for operating the Governor's office during my administration is excessive."

The Morrison budget recommendations submitted to the Legislature proposed $106,000 for the office and Mansion. Burney's budget proposed $80,000.

Staff Exceeds Needs

Morrison wrote Marvel:

"I would like to point out that the staff provided for the Mansion is far in excess of the personal needs of my family. However, it has been my opinion that this staff in itself indicated that it is the desire of the Legislature to have the Mansion be the center of official entertainment in Nebraska and that the Mansion be put to full use for the people of the state.

"If this is correct, then the staff (a housekeeper, assistant housekeeper, cook and student who serves as a house boy) is no more than adequate to carry out this function.

"Mrs. Morrison joins me in expressing her willingness to carry out the function as official hostess of the state to whatever degree the Legislature determines it should be," the governor concluded.

Morrision said at his press conference Friday that he believes both the State Capitol and the Governor's Mansion should be on exhibit "as part of a program to stimulate state pride."

Free World's Largest Hydro Power Plant Trickles Open

Niagara Falls, N.Y. (AP)—The largest hydro-electric power project in the free world produced its first dependable power Friday — a trickle of electricity from one giant generator.

The trickle will become a flood sometime next year, when the sprawling Niagara power project reaches its full-rated capacity of 2,190,000 kilowatts.

In an elaborate ceremony, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller threw a ceremonial switch to mark the project's dedication.

President Kennedy and the 3 living former presidents added their congratulations by recordings.

The Niagara Falls Suite, a symphony commissioned for the occasion, was performed by the Buffalo Philharmonic and conducted by the composer, Ferde Grofe.

Then the governor, with Chairman Robert Moses of the state power authority, moved to the brink of Niagara Falls to dedicate a 270-foot observation tower built by the state parks commission. The steel and-glass tower, reached by a graceful bridge from the top of the Niagara gorge, affords a spectacular view of the cataract and of the Lower Niagara River, now jammed with ice.

"Here we stand breathless," said Moses, who also heads the parks commission. "The most brash, eloquent and irrepressible voices have been stunned to silence by the falls."

The single generator of the 13-unit main plant actually has been producing commercial power for two weeks. But Friday the production became firm—that is, it cannot be withdrawn.

In addition to the main plant, there will be a 12-unit, pump-generator plant where water withdrawn from the river into a reservoir at night will be used to make power in the daytime.

IT means better living for you

Once a manufacturer was looking for a better product. "I want to be sure that people NEED IT," he said. So he asked a lot of them about IT. The answers told him how to MAKE IT. Finally he GOT IT. But IT cost an awful lot to make. To sell it for less, he'd have to make IT by the million. Which meant IT had to be sold by the million, too.

So he let his advertising man SEE IT. Ads began to SHOW IT to millions who might LIKE IT enough to BUY IT. And they did. For IT was indeed a product that they needed, at a price they could afford to pay.

Then a big sign, MORE HELP WANTED appeared on the factory door. Everybody was happy, for now they had IT-made.

Tougher Speed Laws Are Favored

A bill that would toughen the state law against motorists who violate speed limits was advanced to the floor of the Legislature Friday by a 6-1 vote of the Judiciary Committee.

LB186 provides for a graduated scale of fines for speeders. It is aimed at penalizing the driver who repeatedly and deliberately violates the speed limits.

Introducer of the bill, Sen. Joe T. Vosoba of Wilber, said the bill was a recommendation of the Legislative Council study committee on traffic safety.

The committee disagreed with Vosoba on some of his figures and finally came up with an amended bill stronger than Vosoba's original one.

The bill changed the amount of speed over the limit before which the person would be subject to a fine and the bill also upped the minimum penalties.

If a person drives not more than 10 miles over the speed limit, he would be subject to a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $50 for the first conviction.

On the second or subsequent conviction, the fine would be raised to not less than $50 nor more than $100.

Presently, if a person drives not more than 5 miles an hour over the limit, he is subject to a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 on the first conviction and not less than $35 nor more than $100 for the second or subsequent convictions.

The second part of the bill provides that drivers who exceed the limit by more than 10 miles an hour would be fined not less than $35 nor more than $100 for the first offense.

On the second offense the person would be subject to a fine not less than $75 nor more than $200.

In other action, the committee unanimously advanced LB225, allowing all counties to appoint one or more paid deputy county attorneys.

Also advanced was LB259, allowing a guardian to sell improvements on real estate of wards when such improvements are not in use or are deteriorating in value to the injury of the estate.

Salary Increase Bills Get Only Negligible Opposition

Three salary increase bills were given public hearing by the Legislature's Revenue Committee Friday, but a motion to adjourn broke up the ensuing executive session before action was taken on the measures.

At issue were:

LB274, by Sen. George A. Knight of Lincoln, increasing the pay of the Lancaster County election commissioner from $4,000 to $4,800 a year; his deputy, from $3,200 to $3,600; and setting the pay for election judges and clerks in the county at $1.25 per hour; the pay for district election inspectors at $1.50 per hour.

LB322, by Sens. Fern Orme of Lincoln and Michael Russillo and William Moulton of Omaha, increasing the pay of the state adjutant general from $6,600 to $12,000 per year.

LB156, by Sen. Edwin McHugh of Murdock, increasing the pay of the secretary of state from $8,000 to $9,000 a year; state auditor, $8,000 to $9,000; attorney general, $10,000 to $11,000, and state treasurer, $8,000 to $9,000.

Bartunek Opposed

The bills drew no opposition except for an appearance by Leo Bartunek of Lincoln who recommended no increase for the state treasurer.

Under the $12,000 salary proposed for the adjutant general, $3,000 would come from federal civil defense funds under an arrangement whereby the adjutant general is deemed to be spending half his time on civil defense, the committee was told.

Witnesses favoring the pay raise included Col. Don Penterman, assistant adjutant general; Farley Young and John M. Campbell of Lincoln, and John McKnight of Auburn, all associated with the National Guard.

Col Penterman now is drawing $12,000 of combined state-federal pay in contrast to the $6,600 paid Adjutant General Lyle Welch, Penterman related.

Forty-two of Gen. Welch's subordinates now draw more than does Welch, the committee was told.

Salaries of the Lancaster County election officials covered by LB274 all are paid by the county.

Blame Gas Fumes For Norfolk Fire

Norfolk (AP) — Fire Friday afternoon destroyed an Elkhorn Construction Co. garage and truck south of Norfolk. There was a loss of several thousand dollars.

Fumes from gasoline used in cleaning machinery were believed to have been ignited by a ceiling space heater. Firemen from Norfolk and Madison fought the blaze.

Legislature Passes 4 Technical Bills

The Legislature Friday gave final approval to 4 more bills bringing the total number passed to 10.

Bills passed were LB2, 5, 6 and 8, all making technical changes in the statutes.

Governor Morrison has approved 4 bills so far.

PARK LEVY BILL AGAIN DEFERRED

The Legislature's Revenue Committee Friday deferred once again a showdown on the bill to increase the state property tax levy for state park purposes.

The measure, LB208, was given a public hearing Feb. 2. No action has been taken on it at 3 executive sessions held since that time.

The absence of a committee member interfered Friday.

Sen. J. W. Burbach of Crofton, committee chairman, said he expects the bill to be voted upon next week.

The bill would increase from .13 to .35 of a mill the special tax levy for park purposes. The Game Commission has termed it the keystone measure in a 10-year plan to develop the state's parks and tourist potential.

England Hit By Killer Influenza

London (AP) — A killer wave of influenza took 1,219 lives in England and Wales last week. It was the first time this winter that the epidemic has reached the proportions of the Asian flu outbreak of 1957.

The toll, including 37 fatalities in London, compares with 706 flu deaths recorded in England and Wales the previous week the health ministry reported.

Thousands of Britons have been laid low by the epidemic. It began early last month in the midlands.

WEATHER AHEAD

Nebraska temperatures through Wednesday are expected to average 4 to 6 degrees above normal with cooler readings beginning Monday. Normal highs are in the lower 30s northeast to lower 40s southwest. Normal lows are 12 west to 18 east. No precipitation of consequence is predicted.

Link Subs Power Rout Of Hastings

. . . 64-46 WIN EVENS LHS RECORD

By Al Beebe

Lincoln High finally evened its record, 6-6, Friday night by riding a late second period surge throughout the second half for a 64-46 thumping of tall Hastings.

The Links, after playing catch-up most of the opening half, put on a 10-point spree in the final minute and 30 seconds of the half to snare 27-23 halftime margin.

The spurt carried over after intermission, with LHS taking 34-23 and 38-25 lead early in the 3rd quarter. Hastings never got going again.

LHS now has a chance to move above the .500 mark with an Inter-City date at tough Omaha Creighton Prep tonight. Hastings is now also at .500 with a 7-7 record.

Motley Hits 25

Hastings had the high scorer of the night, but that was about all. Tiger Al Motley canned 14 of his 25 points as Hastings kept ahead, by as much as 5 points midway in the second half.

After Lincoln had tied the score 4 times, but couldn't go ahead, it was a couple of late substitutes who got the job done.

Larry Heideman hit one basket and Jim Strain a pair in the final minute of the half.

Gary Haas, who had a poor first half, kept the show on the road in the 3rd period. He got 9 points in that stanza and did tremendous rebound work as the Links scored 25 points.

Balanced Attack

LHS had balanced scoring throughout, and Lincoln hit a fine 50 per cent of its 50 shots. Haas had 18 to top the scoring, with Bobby Williams adding 11, Strain and Doug LaPage each 8.

Williams didn't start after he had a big toenail removed Thursday, but came in during the first quarter to give the Links rebounding power.

Hastings couldn't complain about not getting enough shots. The Tigers took 66 tries, hit only 18.

—GYMNASTICS BEAT OTTO—

Snyder Grabs Rassle Dandy

Wilbur Snyder is considered one of the finest technicians in the pro rassling ranks today.

Friday night he demonstrated why he's a busy man around the nation's larger cities with some excellent gymnastics and rope strategy.

Only one of the 1,309 people at Pershing Auditorium seemed unhappy about Snyder's performance in the main event of Promoter Jack Pesek's grapple card.

That person, however, was Otto Von Krupp — Snyder's opponent.

Referee Tom Novak awarded the deciding fall to the handsome Snyder in 7:12 after Von Krupp failed to make it back inside the ring in time to beat the count.

This wasn't a rousing slam-bang windup, but what happened earlier brought joy to the mat-lovers.

Snyder twice applied an abdominal stretch on the proud Prussian, the first time for a second fall win in 6:10, he used Otto for a tackling dummy after draping him in the ropes.

Both appeared to be kayoed after some high-flying rope work, some of the best criss-crossing off the ropes and flying dropkicks seen at Pershing in ages transpired as the fans roared.

While Snyder was in command all the way, one of his dropkicks backfired to insure Von Krupp the first fall in 11:06. That was one of the few mistakes Snyder made all night.

In the semiwindup, Lorraine Johnson did a bit of hair pulling to foil an airplane spin attack by Judy Glover and win the deciding fall in 6:48.

Ernie Dusek applied his pet Boston Crab hold on Thor Hagen in 16:10 of the special event, while Bob Orton and Emile Dupre grappled to a draw in the opening match.

Huskers Meet Potent Kansas

. . . COLISEUM DOUBLEHEADER

By Bob McCoy

Nebraska's basketball team, at full strength and on a friendly battleground, hopes to crack a 4-game losing slump tonight.

The Huskers host powerful Kansas at 8:05 in the second game of a Coliseum doubleheader.

The Cornhusker freshman basketballers entertain Fairbury Junior College at 6 p.m. in the evening's opener.

Coach Jerry Bush's NU varsity needs a victory to escape the Big 8 Conference basement. The Huskers are currently tied for 7th with Oklahoma, each with 2-4 records.

Tied For Lead

Nebraska might have picked an easier foe. Kansas is 5-1 and tied for the loop lead with Kansas State.

NU-Bush history with Kansas has had only few bright moments. Highlight of these was in 1958 during the Wilt Chamberlain days when the Huskers upset KU 43-41 on the Coliseum floor.

That victory atoned for an earlier 102-46 setback, but was the last time Nebraska has beaten Kansas. Kansas is 11-3 against Bush-coached NU teams.

78-53 Decision

KU smashed the Huskers 78-53 in this year's Big 8 preseason tourney. Nebraska won 4 straight after that, but has since lost 4 in a row.

Bush hopes the return of Jim Kowalke, who has missed 5 of NU's 6 conference games with an injured ankle, will spark an upset of the Jayhawks.

Kowalke works with Tom Russell at forward. Bill Bowers gets the starting call at center and NU will open with Rex Swett and Al Roots at guards.

1-2 KU Punch

KU coach Dick Harp has the Big 8's best 1-2 punch in 6-8½ Wayne Hightower and 6-6 Bill Bridges.

Hightower is 2nd in league scoring with 20.4 average while Bridges is the most powerful rebounder.

Other Jayhawk starters are Al Correll (6-3) at forward and Jerry Gardner (6-0) and Nolen Ellison (6-1) at guard.

KU is 11-5 overall, Nebraska 8-8.

Frosh Starters

Husker freshman coach Tony Sharpe will start 6-8 Bill Vincent, 6-5 Daryl Petsch, 6-3 Charlie Jones, 6-1 Roger Denesia and 6-1 Keith Sieck against Fairbury.

This contest is the first of a 4-game freshman competitive schedule.

Wildcats Roar In Overtime

Lincoln Star Special

Wayne — Wayne State sizzled for 13 points in overtime to smack Nebraska Wesleyan, 76-66, in a Nebraska College Conference basketball game here Friday night.

The overtime lead was the greatest either team had during the torrid contest.

The game was tied 10 times, and the lead changed hands 15 times.

Work In Reverse

For the first time in NCC play this season, free throws worked to the disadvantage of Coach Irv Peterson's Wesleyan club.

The Plainsmen outshot Wayne, 25-22, from the field, but gave up a 32-16 edge to the Wildcats at the gratis line.

Wayne was at its best in the overtime. Ron Marcellus, who hadn't played much because of a sprained ankle, broke the 63-63 regular game deadlock with a long fielder and a brace of free throws.

Dave Goede, a scatty little guard, scored two layins and his Wildcat mates added 5 more free throws in the extra period.

3 Points

All Wesleyan could muster was a free throw by Dennis Semin and a layin by Ron Gillham.

Goede led all scorers with 24 points, including 12 for 13 free throws.

Gillham was Wesleyan's high with 21. The 5-11 backcourt ace got most of his points from the outside.

Wesleyan's leading scorer, Jim Munford, was squeezed out with only 3 points.

NWU's conference record is now 4-4 and Wayne's 4-5.

Davey Moore Beats Italian

Rome (AP)— World featherweight champion Davey Moore of Springfield, O., easily oupointed Italian champion Raimondo Nobile Friday night in a 10-round, non-title fight. It was the Italian's first loss in 25 pro bouts.

A capacity crowd of 15,000 in Rome's Sports Palace cheered the 129½-pound American Negro as his hand was raised in victory. Nobile weighed 129.

T-Bolts Fizzle In Stretch Run

. . . OVERFLOW CROWD WATCHES

By Larry Novicki

Lincoln Southeast got almost more than it could handle from a group of inspired Pius X Thunderbolts Friday night, before winning a cross-town basketball game, 59-53, at Pius' jam-packed arena.

The Knights had to battle back from a 53-52 deficit with 3½ minutes to go in order to take the victory.

A screaming, overflow crowd, which spilled out to the edges of the court and even onto the roofs adjoining the gymnasium, produced a nearly impenetrable air of tension.

Lose Chances

Pius X blew several opportunities to pull the game out in the last 3 minutes.

After the Bolts had regained the lead they had lost midway in the second period, they gathered in the rebounds on two straight errant Southeast shots.

But on both occasions, they were whistled down for travelling.

Southeast's Al Hohensee canned a turning jump shot with 2:42 to go, putting the Knights back in front, 54-53.

Err Again

Pius again erred. This time it was a pass that went awry and Southeast's Dick Owen grabbed it. He was fouled as he streaked toward the bucket on a one-man fast break.

Owen got one of his two free throw attempts.

Seconds later, Pius' Joel Kortus muffed an easy layup that would have tied the contest.

With a minute and a half left, Jack Cramer tipped in a bucket for Southeast to boost the lead to 57-53.

Desperation

Pius' only recourse was to shoot in desperation, but no Bolt could find the mark. Owen's two free throws wound up the scoring.

The victorius Knights entered the game in hopes of getting back at Pius for a 12-0 football shellacking handed them by the Parokes last fall.

The Pius cagers wanted to duplicate the fete of their gridiron cousins.

Hot Rivalry

All this and the big crowd added to the excitement in a match which is rapidly becoming the city's hottest rivalry.

The determined Thunderbolts led all through the first period to take a 17-12 lead at the quarter mark. Their biggest lead was at 17-10.

Southeast first grabbed the lead on a long fielder by Johnnie Roux with 3:13 left in the half. The Knights fell behind again but regained the margin at 26-25 and never let go of it until the last 4 minutes of the fray.

Cramer was high for the night with 18 points, all on field goals. Gary Thomas, Gene Hammond and Cramer were the Knight rebound leaders.

Joe Gaughan and Kortus topped the Bolts with 13 apiece.

Kortus and Tom Neal led a board force which gathered in more rebounds than did Southeast.

Southeast Repeats City Swim Crown

. . . 5 Records Toppled In Sparkling Show

Lincoln Southeast won every event but two in sweeping to a 3rd consecutive city swimming championship Friday afternoon at the Public Schools pool.

Five records were smashed as the unbeaten Knights scored 89 points to Lincoln High's 43 and Northeast's 36.

The most startling new mark was made by Southeast's powerful medley relay team.

With backstroker Dave Frank, breaststroker Charlie Flansburg, butterfly man Dennis Merry and freestyler John Moreland clicking off sparkling legs, the Knight team came under the wire in 1:48.7.

State Mark Falls

The time eclipsed Lincoln High's city record set last year by nearly 6 seconds and bettered the state record of 1:52.7 set last year by Creighton Prep in the same pool.

Each member of the team won his individual event with Flansburg and Moreland setting new city records.

Moreland's :24.6 in the 50-yard freestyle was one 10th of a second over the state record and Flansburg's 1:08.0 four 10ths over the state mark in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Southeast's Tom Nickerson set the other two marks. He bettered standards established by former Knight standout Jay Groth in the 400 and 200-yard freestyle races.

Only "outsiders" to crash into the victory lane were Northeast's Pete Crancer in the 100-yard freestyle and Lincoln High's Mike Schneider in diving.

Southeast will enter next week's state swimming meet with two consecutive state titles under its belt along with a skein of dual victories that has stretched back 3 seasons.

Coach John Reta's fabulous Knights have 3 consecutive Mid East Conference and city championship to boast about.

Chargers Get AFL Blessing

Dallas (AP)—San Diego joined the American Football League Friday, replacing Los Angeles.

Commissioner Joe Foss announced unanimous approval by the league members of the transfer of the Los Angeles franchise. It had been requested by Barron Hilton, president and primary owner of the Chargers.

The move makes Los Angeles a one-team city in professional football and brings pro football to a city with a population complex of 1,200,000.

Plans have already been launched by San Diego city officials for double-decking Balboa Stadium and increasing its seating capacity to 35,000.

NO GUTS, I QUIT!

Phoenix, Ariz., (AP)—Heavyweight Norman Letcher of Los Angeles quit in the 5th round of his scheduled 10-rounder with Zora Folley Friday night. Letcher announced he was through with the ring for good.

The action meant indefinite suspension and no purse for Letcher.

"No guts," Letcher said in his dressing room later. "I don't have the temperament to be a fighter, I guess."

Minden Tumbles Uni High 54-41

Minden—Third-ranking Minden racked up its 12th win in 16 starts Friday night, dumping Class B's No. 6 Lincoln University High, 54-41.

An 11-3 edge in the 3rd period pulled Minden into a comfortable lead after a 5-point halftime margin.

The Whippets used a full court press and got good scoring from LeRoy Bell in that period.

The Tutors were outshot, 15-11 from the floor, but the big difference was in fouls. Uni was called for 25 fouls to 14 for Minden, and the Whippets converted 20 to 37 free throws.

Uni held the early lead but Minden went ahead late in the second quarter for a 24-19 halftime margin.

The Tutors, now 7-6 for the year, got 11 points from Charlie Hellerich and 10 by Wes Cooley.

Bell's 12 points was topped by August Nelson's 13 to lead Minden.

. . . 49-35 WIN WARMUP FOR FREMONT

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice — High-ranking Lincoln Northeast had to use free throws to keep ahead of hapless Beatrice before pulling out a 49-35 Mid-East Conference victory here Friday night.

The Rockets, who have an important date at home tonight with Fremont, are now 3-0 in the loop and 8-4 on the season. Beatrice has a 1-11 record.

Northeast connected on 17 of 22 charities during the game, and was 14-for-16 at one time, NE also wound up outshooting Beatrice from the field, 16-14.

Northeast's Earl Wright led all scoring with 20, including 8 of 9 free tosses. Dave Lebsack had 12, and also was hot from the line with 6 of 7.

Jerry Naaf topped the Orangemen in scoring with 14. Beatrice hit only 7 of 16 free throws.

...SHOOTS SECOND ROUND 63

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP) — Chunky Henry Williams Jr., a teaching professional who seldom leaves his home club for the tournament trail, stroked a course record 63 Friday and led the $30,000 Phoenix Open at the halfway mark by two strokes.

His remarkable 7 under par 31-32 coming on top of a two-under 68 in the first round, gave the Fleetwood, Pa., golfer a 36-hole total of 131.

Williams, who won $18.33 at Palm Springs, Calif., last week for his only money in 5 tries this winter, was pressed hardest by Dave Marr, who was two strokes back and Don January and Arnold Palmer, each 3 away.

The fast finishing Palmer, 1960 Golfer of the Year, did it up brown in this round, Coming in just before dark, he blazed home with 4 straight birdies for a 65 and a midway total of 134.

Marr Hits 67

Marr, co-leader Thursday with Mason Rudolph and Bill Collins at 66, added a 3-under 67. January shot his second 67 for 134.

Collins had a 69 for a two-day total of 135, and Rudolph a 70 for 136.

Grouped with Collins at 135 were defending champion Jack Fleck, Jim Ferrier, Julius Boros and Johnny Pott. Al Balding, Art Wall Jr., and Jackie Cupid, Longview, Tex., were deadlocked at 137.

Williams, who gets unusual distance with a whip-like swing, had no explanation for this, his finest round in PGA competition, except to say, "everything was working right for me."

His putter, which he used only 26 times, and his long irons, were especially hot.

One Victory

The bespectacled Pennsylvanian's only victory on PGA tours came in the 1952 Tucson Open. He lost to Chandler Harper in the finals of the PGA match play championship in 1950.

Three other golfers, Gene Littler, Lloyd Mangrum and Jerry Magee, have negotiated the Arizona Country Club course in 63, all in the 1959 Phoenix Open.

However, the layout has been lengthened and toughened since then and Williams' score goes down as the record for the current 6,661-yard alignment.

The field was cut to the low 70 and ties for today's 3rd round.

CHAMPIONSHIP FORM

Sixteen-year-old Laurence Owen of Boston kicks up a spray of ice during final workouts for the North American figure skating championships which get underway today in Ardmore and Philadelphia, Pa. The young skater was 6th in the 1960 Winter Olympics and 9th in last year's world championship.

Syracuse Trips Weeping Water

...WITTY PEPS 74-54 WIN

Lincoln Star Special

Waverly — Torrid Syracuse bombed Weeping Water 74-54 Friday night to capture the Southeast 8 basketball title.

The Rockets, defending Class B champions, relied on the great shooting of Bill Witty to mow down the tall Indians and avenge an earlier 50-26 loss to Weeping Water.

Witty had an exceptional first half, scoring 22 points to push the Rockets to a 40-26 intermission advantage.

Lead Too Big

The lead was too much for Weeping Water to overcome although a surge in the third period cut the margin to 9 points.

Syracuse's field goal shooting percentage was a torrid .600 on 24 goals in 40 attempts.

Witty added 11 points in the second half for a total of 33 to win an expected point battle with Weeping Water's 6-8 Carl Voyles.

Voyles Gets 25

Voyles, stymied in the second quarter by Syracuse's zone, had 25. He managed only one fielder in the second quarter when Syracuse pulled from an 18-18 tie to the 14-point lead.

Rich Kuenning, Witty's outside shooting mate, added 19 points to the Rocket cause.

Seward Concordia, a non-conference team invited to the tourney, picked off 3rd place honors in the consolation game, whipping host Waverly, 61-50.

Concordia was lead by Keith Brose's 15 points. Jerry Campbell led Waverly with 13 points.

RAPISARDA LEADS

Panama City (AP)—Luis Rapisarda, an Argentine from Brazil, forged into a one-stroke lead over American Pete Cooper at the half-way mark of the Panama Open golf championship Friday when he carded a 5-under-par 67 for a 36-hole total of 137.

Sub Moyer Faces Scott At Garden

New York (AP) — Denny Moyer, a young middleweight of promise, steps in as a sub for Federico Thompson to box Charley Scott, a Philadelphia welterweight, tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Although Moyer is ranked No. 6 amont the welters by Ring and No. 10 by the National Boxing Association, he is actually is a middleweight with designs on the title claimed by both Gene Fullmer and Paul Pender.

The 10-round match, to be carried by network (ABC) television, will start at 9 p.m. (CST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case of even rounds.

Scott was beaten twice by Kid Paret before the Cuban won the welter title. He lost to Ralp.. Dupas in Australia last fall but then traveled to Manila where he knocked out Rocky Kalingo in one round. He expects to weigh about 149 and will give away about 6 pounds.

Moyer, 21, is from Portland, Ore. He has a 27-3 record and holds victories over Paret, Emile Griffith, Gaspar Ortega and Virgil Akins. He also lost a decision to Griffith. In his only 1961 start he outpointed Whillie Morton Jan. 31 at San Jose, Calif.

Tribe To Bank Heavily On Former Giant Pair

... DYKES SAYS TEAM IS BEST HE'S HAD

(12th in a series of major league team prospects written under the managers' own bylines)

By Jimmie Dykes
Cleveland Indians

Norristown, Pa. (AP) — The Indians will be counting heavily on 3 new men, Johnny Antonelli, Willie Kirkland and Ty Cline. If they and some of our young pitchers come through the way we expect, Cleveland fans will have plenty to cheer about.

Antonelli and Kirkland, you know about. We got them from the Giants for Harvey Kuenn. They tell me that Antonelli's arm is in good shape. I don't expect him to win 20 games as he did a couple of times in the National League, but if he can manage close to 15 victories he'll be a mighty valuable addition. Kirkland can hit with power and gives us a strong arm in the outfield.

Cline could be one of the most exciting players to come up from the minors in a long time. He's an outfielder who can run like a deer. He was with Mobile last season and everyone in the Southern Association raved about him.

I am anxious to get to spring training to see how our pitching is going to shape up. If Gary Bell can pick up where he left off in 1959 and early 1960 that will solve one problem. Jim Perry, Barry Latman, Jim Grant and Bobby Locke are our other strong, young right-handers. Latman came on fast toward the end of last season.

A few years ago, the Indians had a tremendous lefty-righty combination in the bullpen, Don Mossi and Ray Narleski. Dick Stigman and Frank Funk can develop into the same kind of relief team. Stigman, the lefty, was brilliant at times last year.

Now that Woodie Held has completely recovered from a broken finger we'll hve a fine double play combination with him and Johnny Temple. Temple had a rather poor season at second base but I don't believe he ever completely recovered last year from an ankle injury he suffered in May.

Vic Power is set at first base and John Romano behind the plate. Romano showed considerable improvement in the last half of 1960 and is capable of giving us some home run power.

On paper, at least, this looks like the best club I've ever taken to spring training and I've been doing it for a long time now. It certainly would be great to manage my first pennant winner. Then maybe I'll take to smoking even more expensive cigars.

Indoor Net Treated To 2nd Upset

New York (AP)—Marine Corp. John Cranston of San Moreno, Calif., treated the national indoor tennis championships to their second major upset Friday when he ousted second-seeded Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn 6-3, 6-4.

Holmberg, ranked 7th nationally, joined top-seeded foreigner Orlando Sirola of Italy on the sidelines. Sirola, lost Thursday night to Crawford Henry of Atlanta.

Billy Knight of England, the No. 2 foreign seed, and Pierre Darmon of France, No. 4, also advanced to the quarter-finals at the 7th Regiment Armory, along with Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif.

Top-seeded Dick Savitt of New York swepe past Leifbeck of Philadelphia 6-0, 6-1. Rafael Osuna of Mexico took a 4-0 lead in each set in beating Warren Jacques of Australia 6-4, 6-4.

Henry topped Alan Fischl of New York 6-1, 6-2. Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., beat Allen Morris of Forest Hills, N.Y., 6-1, 6-2.

In today's quarter-finals, Cranston plays Osuna, Crawford meets Knight, Henry faces Reed and Savitt opposes Darmon.

Southeast Gym Team Wins Two

Lincoln Southeast won a double dual gymnastics match Friday, downing Omaha Benson 84-44 and Beatrice 77½-50½.

Chadron Pounds Hastings 76-68

Hastings (AP)—Chadron State broke out in front early, built up a 13 point half time lead and whipped the Hastings College Broncos 76-68 in a NCC basketball game Friday night.

Chadron led at the half 39-26.

Felix Sanford hit 13 field goals and led the Chadron club with 28 points. Hastings' top shooter was Chuck Bacon with 23 points.

All Cubs Signed

Mesa, Ariz., (AP)—Pitcher Seth Morehead Friday signed a contract with the Chicago Cubs, completing the National League team's salary negotiations for 1961.

The 26-year-old lefthander from Shreveport, La., had a 2-9 record with the Cubs last year. His 1961 salary was not disclosed. The Cubs open training in Mesa next week.

Midland Thumps Concordia 111-77

Seward (UPI) — Midland College overwhelmed Concordia, 111-77 in a Tri-State Conference rout here Friday night.

Dennis Groves and Jerry Otte led the Midland scoring, Groves with 24 points and Otte with 22.

Concordia's Dave Melber was high point man for his team with 18 points. Midland led 56-39 at the half.

First Loop Win

Omaha (AP)—Omaha University won its first CIC League game in 18 starts Friday night when Fort Hays was beaten 69-65 behind the shooting of Sam Siems, who made his first start for the winners.

Siems hit 21 points. Omaha led at the half by a 32-27 count as the Indians broke a conference losing streak that had stretched over two seasons.

Istvan, Bragg Take Features

...MULLINS CAPTURES 1,000

Philadelphia (AP)—Istvan Roszavolgyi of Hungary toyed with his opposition and coasted to a 4:05.4 meet record victory Friday night in the mile of the Philadelphia Inquirer track meet.

A capacity crowd of 10,650 in Convention Hall watched the slim Hungarian Army captain permit Deacon Jones of Fort Lee, Va., to take the lead for 3 laps. Then Rosy took over for two more, yielded to Jones again, then with 3 to go opened up.

The former meet record was 4:05.8, set by Ron Delany of Ireland two years ago.

Hayes Jones, a Detroit school teacher since being graduated from Eastern Michigan last year, won the 50-yard high hurdles in 6 seconds flat.

Don Bragg of Hollywood, Calif., who holds all the pole vault records in the books, won the event with a 15-5 effort.

Bragg, the Olympic champion, made 3 tries at the magic 16-foot mark. He didn't even get close the first two times, but on his 3rd try, he hurled his body over, but hit the crossbar with his legs on the way down.

It probably was the closest anyone has come to going over 16 feet.

Frank Budd of Villanova, who has been making a sweep of the winter circuit, whipped to a 5.3 victory in the 50-yard dash.

Joe Mullins, the Big 8 half-mile champion from Nebraska, pushed across the tape inches ahead of Cary Weisiger of the Quantico Marines and won the 1,000-yard run in 2:13.1.

Jack Yerman of California made his debut on boards by winning the 600 in 1:11.9.

SYAS CLAIMS SENATORS HAVE NO TOTAL PICTURE OF EXPENDITURES

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said Friday the senators have no total picture of expenditures contained in bills that have been introduced in the Legislature.

To give legislators some idea of the total amount of money involved in various budget bills, Syas suggested that all bills above $5,000 having to do with general appropriations be bracketed on general file.

After a 30-minute debate in which his proposal was questioned by some senators, Syas withdrew his motion.

Syas said he thought his plan would speed up the session since it would help the budget committee in its deliberations.

One of the main intents of his suggestion was to awaken committees to report out budget bills faster than they have been doing, he said.

Budget committee chairman Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings agreed with Syas that if the bills were not shoved out of committees as quickly as possible, his committee would be slowed down.

Marvel said the budget committee is already 10 days ahead of the last session.

"But if bills aren't reported out of committee quickly, it may tend to defeat any progress we might have made," Marvel said.

Titan Moves Step Nearer Summer Goal

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — The intercontinental range Titan missile took a big step toward its mid-summer operational goal Friday when an improved model streaked 5,000 miles to the South Atlantic.

The success was the first after two failures for the advanced Titan, which is essentially the operational design.

The first combat-ready Titans are scheduled to be placed in protected underground silos at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo. Then the Air Force plans a fast 3-year buildup of 14 squadrons, each with 10 missiles.

An electronic blinker flashed with 22-million candlepower brilliancy at half-second intervals marked the 98-foot giant's course as it sped across the sky.

Cameras at down range tracking stations photograph the light against a background of stars. The pictures will enable technicians to determine more accurately the Titan's speed and position at any given time.

The rocket, made by the Martin Co., also carried a nose cone designed for the Atlas. The Air Force wants the warheads on these two ocean-spanning missiles to be interchangeable. An Atlas previously boosted a Titan cone on a successful test flight.

Of the 1,817,096 wells drilled in the U.S. up to the end of 1959, 1,159,166 were oil wells, 129,157 wells, 491,452 dry holes and 36,961 service wells.

Meet Star Carrier Dean Collins

Eleven-year-old Dean Collins started carrying the morning Lincoln Star in Belvidere during October of 1960, assuming full responsibility for his route and managing it in a businesslike manner.

Dean

Dean's route was not large when he started on it and he is working very hard on a sales program to increase his list of customers and route profits.

He has started a savings account with the profit he realizes from the out-state route.

Dean lives on a farm at the edge of Belvidere with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Collins, who feel that even though Dean has ample duties around the farm to keep him busy, they want him to continue with his route for the splendid business training experience he is receiving from it.

Any young man interested in a morning Lincoln Star route in his home town may receive full information by writing to the State Carrier Department of the Lincoln Star in Lincoln 1, Neb.

Tot Found Buried By Snow Pile

New Brunswick, N.J. (AP) — A faint whimper led a volunteer searcher early Friday to a snowslide where a 4-year-old girl was buried alongside her home for 10 hours.

The child, Rose Mary Kinsey, was taken to Middlesex General Hospital suffering from severe overexposure. She is reported in fair condition and "doing very nicely."

Police Chief George Kane said snow from an adjacent rooftop apparently knocked the girl over and covered her as she was playing outside her home.

Volunteers

While 200 volunteers combed the community —concentrating their efforts on the nearby Raritan River Canal and a 13-story apartment building under construction — Rose Mary was lying in the snow less than two feet from her parents bedroom.

It took an out-of-town visitor, William J. Keetley, 33, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to find the child.

Keetley joined the search when he and his host, Eugene Coder, of Lawrence Brook, heard a call for volunteers on the radio. After searching a wide area, Keetley and Coder decided to go back to the Kinsey house, to have another look around.

Like Puppy

"I heard what sounded like a puppy crying," Keetley said. There was only one ridge of untrampled snow alongside the house and Keetley dug in with his hands.

"I saw the jacket and called to Coder and we pulled the snow away from her," he said. They turned the child over to police and she was taken to the hospital in a squad car.

The searchers could have saved themselves a lot of work if they had known that Rose Mary would stick pretty close to her home.

When neighborhood children invited her and her brother Michael, 3, to play with them earlier, Rose Mary said:

"I am not allowed to go out of the yard."

Dempster Co. Sales Mount, Profits Drop

Beatrice — Sales during the 1960 fiscal year were up slightly, it was reported at the annual meeting of Dempster Mill Mfg. Co. stockholders, but profits for the year mere down.

Lee Dimon, executive vice president, said numerous products, which have been producing little or no profit, were dropped from the line, and others which offer a larger poential volume and a profit have been added or are in the process of being added at this time.

Stockholders were informed assistant branch house managers have been added at some branches and supervisory help at others to provide additional sales assistance on the sales territory.

A new customer relations department was added during the past year.

Several new products have been added for production at the Beatrice factory and others will be produced at the Habco plant in Columbus, for sale through the Dempster sales organization.

Sales goals for the 1961 fiscal year set a substantial increase, it was reported. Members of the board of directors were re-elected.

H. C. Feemster, York, Is Dead

York—Funeral services for Howard C. Feemster, 94, mathematics instructor at York College for 44 years, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Evangelical United Brethren Church here.

Coming to York in 1906, he held a master's degree from the University of Nebraska.

Surviving are his wife, Emme; daughters, Dr. Wilhelmina Jashenski of Washington, D.C. and Mrs. Elizabeth Gladden of Pasco, Wash.; sons, Calvin of Canoga Park, Calif., and William of Lansing, Ill.; 7 grandchildren, two great grandchildren and one sister.

CARMICHAEL

John Mullet, 88, Dies; Merchant For Many Years

Superior (AP)—John A. Mullet, 88, who had been in business in Superior longer than any other merchant, died unexpectedly at his home Friday. He had been busy in his store earlier this week.

Mullet opened a hardware and appliance business in Superior in 1901, and in 1911 he added a mortuary to the business.

Besides his 3 sons, Conald, Albert, and Wayne, all associated with him in the business, Mr. Mullet is survived by his wife, Emma, and a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Littrell of Nelson.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Brown-Mullet Funeral Home. The Rev. E. Ray Cameron, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Stocks Decline; Polaroid Off 4½

New York (AP)—The stock market declined sharply and decisively Friday in heavy trading.

Leading issues were off from fractions to about a point mostly although a few took losses runing to 2 or 3 points. Polaroid dropped 4½.

Of 1,291 issues traded, 730 declined while 356 advanced.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.45 to 639.67.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.80 to 232.70 with industrials down 3.30, rails down 1.20, and utilities down .20.

The AP average took an equal loss on Monday. Based on a decline of that extent, an estimated $2.5 billion in quoted value was erased from stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

In a week marked by a frequently cloudy tug of war between bulls and bears, Friday's session made certain that the stock market showed a decline on balance for the week, terminating a six-week rise.

Volume of 4.84 million shares compared with Thursday's 5.59 million, the biggest since September 1955.

The comparatively high level of the market produced a total of 56 new highs for 1960-'61 as against four new lows.

Steels, coppers, rails, oils, drugs, chemicals, electronics and aircraft—missiles declined. The electrical equipments continued under heavy selling pressure, again placing among the volume leaders on the downside. Motors and tobaccos managed to show a gain on balance.

The big feature of the day was the opening of GE nearly four hours after the start of the session. The first transaction was a monster block of 215,000 shares, off 1½ at 62 1-16th followed by a block of 5,000 shares at the same price. The 215,000-share block was the largest single transaction on the big board since July 30, 1959 when American Broadcasting-Paramount preferred traded at 19¼ on a block of 240,768 shares.

GE and the other electrical equipments were still affected by the threat of damage suits arising out of the antitrust convictions.

Westinghouse Electric was delayed an hour and 40 minutes before its initial trade of 57,000 shares, off 2⅜ at 40⅜.

Eight of the 15 most active stocks declined, four advanced and three were unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 2 million shares compared with 1.99 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds advanced. U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Bond volume fell to $6.47 million par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $8.21 million Thursday.

Soybeans Up 3c A Bushel

Chicago (AP)—Grain futures generally continued their downward trend Friday while soybeans withstood a moderate flurry of profit taking and finished with gains running to three cents a bushel.

Corn was under steady and fairly stiff selling pressure which more than wiped out the moderate advance of the previous session. Trade volume was relatively light all around.

Dealers said there was little of commercial influence in the market and that transactions for the most part were of a speculative character toward evening up commitments for the weekend.

Soybeans were 2½-2¾ cents a bushel higher at the close, March $2.71¾-72½; wheat ⅞ lower to ½ higher, March $2.10½-¾; corn 1 to 2 cents lower, March $1.15⅜-½; oats ⅜ lower to ¼ higher, March 65½-⅝; rye ½-⅞ lower, March $1.20⅜.

Sleep In Open

Zamora, Spain (AP) — Thousands of panic-stricken residents slept in the open after 3 earthquakes struck in less than two hours.

Hog Prices Irregular

Omaha (AP) — Hog price trends were irregular at Omaha Friday with better quality lightweights steady to 25c higher.

Cattle were too few for an adequate price test. Fat lambs were steady on light receipts.

OMAHA

Hogs: 4,000; trading uneven; U.S. No. 1 and 1-2 200-230 lbs. steady to 25 higher, 19.00-19.25; 1-3 190-250 lbs. 18.25-18.75; these steady to weak, instances 25 lower; other butchers steady to weak; 250-270 lbs. 17.50-18.25; 270-300 lbs., 17.25-18.00; sows about steady; 270-330 lbs. 16.75-17.00; 330-600 lbs. 16.00-16.50, sparingly 16.75.

Cattle: 200, calves 75; slaughter steers and heifers virtually absent; utility 15.50-16.25; canners and cutters 13.50-15.50.

Sheep: 400; slaughter lambs fully steady; choice wooled lambs 17.50-18.00; 98 lb. fall shorn lambs 17.25.

CHICAGO

The butcher hog market was steady to 25 cents lower again Friday but this time the decline was on weights over 230 lbs.

In a moderately active demand the entire supply of 450 head sold early and topped at $19 for a few closely sorted 210 lb mixed No. 1 and 2 grades.

The supply of 30,000 for the week compared with 29.50 a week ago.

Some 210-215 lb mixed 1-2 grades brought $18.85 and the mixed 1-2 and 1-3 lots in the 190-240 lb range $18.25-18.75. Heavier offerings sold down to $17.15 for 316 lb No. 3s. Sows topped at $17.25.

The supply of slaughter steers, vealers, heifers and bulls was meager and no sales were reported.

A few wooled choice and prime slaughter lambs brought a $19 top 102 lb weights. Others were $18-18.75 with the good and choice $16.50-17.50.

Hogs: 4,500; moderately active; steady to 25 lower, downturn on weights over 230 lb; fairly good shipping demand; early clearance all classes; No. 1-2 around 210 lb. 19.00; No. 1-2 200-215 lb. 18.83; No. 1-2-3 190-240 lb. 18.25-18.75; No. 1-2-3 and 2-3 240-260 lb. 18.00-18.50.

Cattle: 200, calves 25; not enough for price test.

Sheep: 200; small supply fully steady; choice and prime 102 lb. wooled lambs 19.00; choice and prime 18.00-18.75; good and choice 16.50-17.50.

KANSAS CITY

State Supreme Court Reverses Adams Tax Ruling

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday ruled that units of interest in gas production payments held by James D. Conway of Hastings are taxable as personal property in Nebraska and should not be classified as real estate in the state of Kansas.

The high court reversed a decision of the Adams County District Court which had held that the units owned by Conway were not taxable in Nebraska since they were concerned with gas production in Kansas.

Conway appealed the case to recover a $55.04 he paid as taxed levied by the Adams County assessor on the units.

On Dec. 1, 1955, Deerfield Gas Production Co. and Kearney Gas Production Co., both Delaware corporations, were engaged in the production and sale of natural gas and the development and operation of certain oil and gas leases located in the Hugoten Field in Kansas.

These two companies transferred all of their interest to the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., Inc., but they retained a share of a certain gas production payment.

This share of the gas production payment amounted to 6 cents a thousand cubic feet of gas produced in the area.

Thus the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. was obligated to pay the other two companies 6 cents a 1,000 cubic feet of gas produced.

To carry out the disposition by sale of this 6 per cent interest, the interest was divided into 935,999 separate and undivided units. Conway owned 1,529 of these units.

The supreme court said the instrument creating the trust declared the units to be personal property and since this trust was not in conflict with any law, it had binding force and effect.

NEW TRIAL ORDERED IN STOLEN AUTO SUIT

The State Supreme Court Friday ordered a new trial of a Douglas County lawsuit involving an automobile which was wrecked after it had been stolen.

Freeport Motor Casualty Co. brought and won the original action against McKenzie Pontiac, Inc., Roderick E. McKenzie and Thomas Record.

The background: John F. Bergmann of Plattsmouth in 1957 took his automobile to McKenzie Pontiac to have some work done on it. Before Bergmann could get the auto back, it was stolen and later was found wrecked near Nebraska City.

Bergmann and his mother, as owners of the car, collected $1,650 from the insurance company, and the insurance firm in turn sued McKenzie Pontiac, alleging negligence in permitting the car to be stolen. The Douglas County District Court, on a motion, awarded the insurance firm $1,397.50. But the Supreme Court held that issues were raised that should have been decided by a jury, rather than by a judge.

Topeka Church Burns

Topeka, Kan. (AP) — Fire destroyed the First Christian Church in downtown Topeka. The loss included the main building and a recently completed $300,000 annex.

Attorneys Fees Allowed In Scotts Bluff Case

Lorin R. Summerville won a round in the State Supreme Court Friday in his application for the allowance of attorneys fees and expenses in an earlier action in which he successfully challenged the constitutionality of the 1957 law under which the North Platte Weather Control District was created.

Summerville last year applied for the allowance of attorney fees but the Scotts Bluff County District Court held it was without jurisdiction "at this late date" to grant the application. Summerville then appealed to the supreme court.

The high court reversed the judgment and ordered the case remanded for further proceedings.

Summerville's original action resulted in the Scotts Bluff County treasurer being enjoined from disbursing any of the taxes levied by the weather control district.

In another opinion Friday, the supreme court affirmed a Garden County District Court ruling that Oren Clary and his wife, Naomi, may not recover damages from the Nebraska Department of Roads for erosion damage allegedly resulting from a highway across their land.

Right of way for the highway was acquired originally by the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District and the highway later became a part of the state system.

The supreme court said the parents of Oren Clary were compensated "or at least had an opportunity to be compensated for all damages that could reasonably be contemplated, including the contingency of erosion" when they gave title to the right of way to the irrigation district.

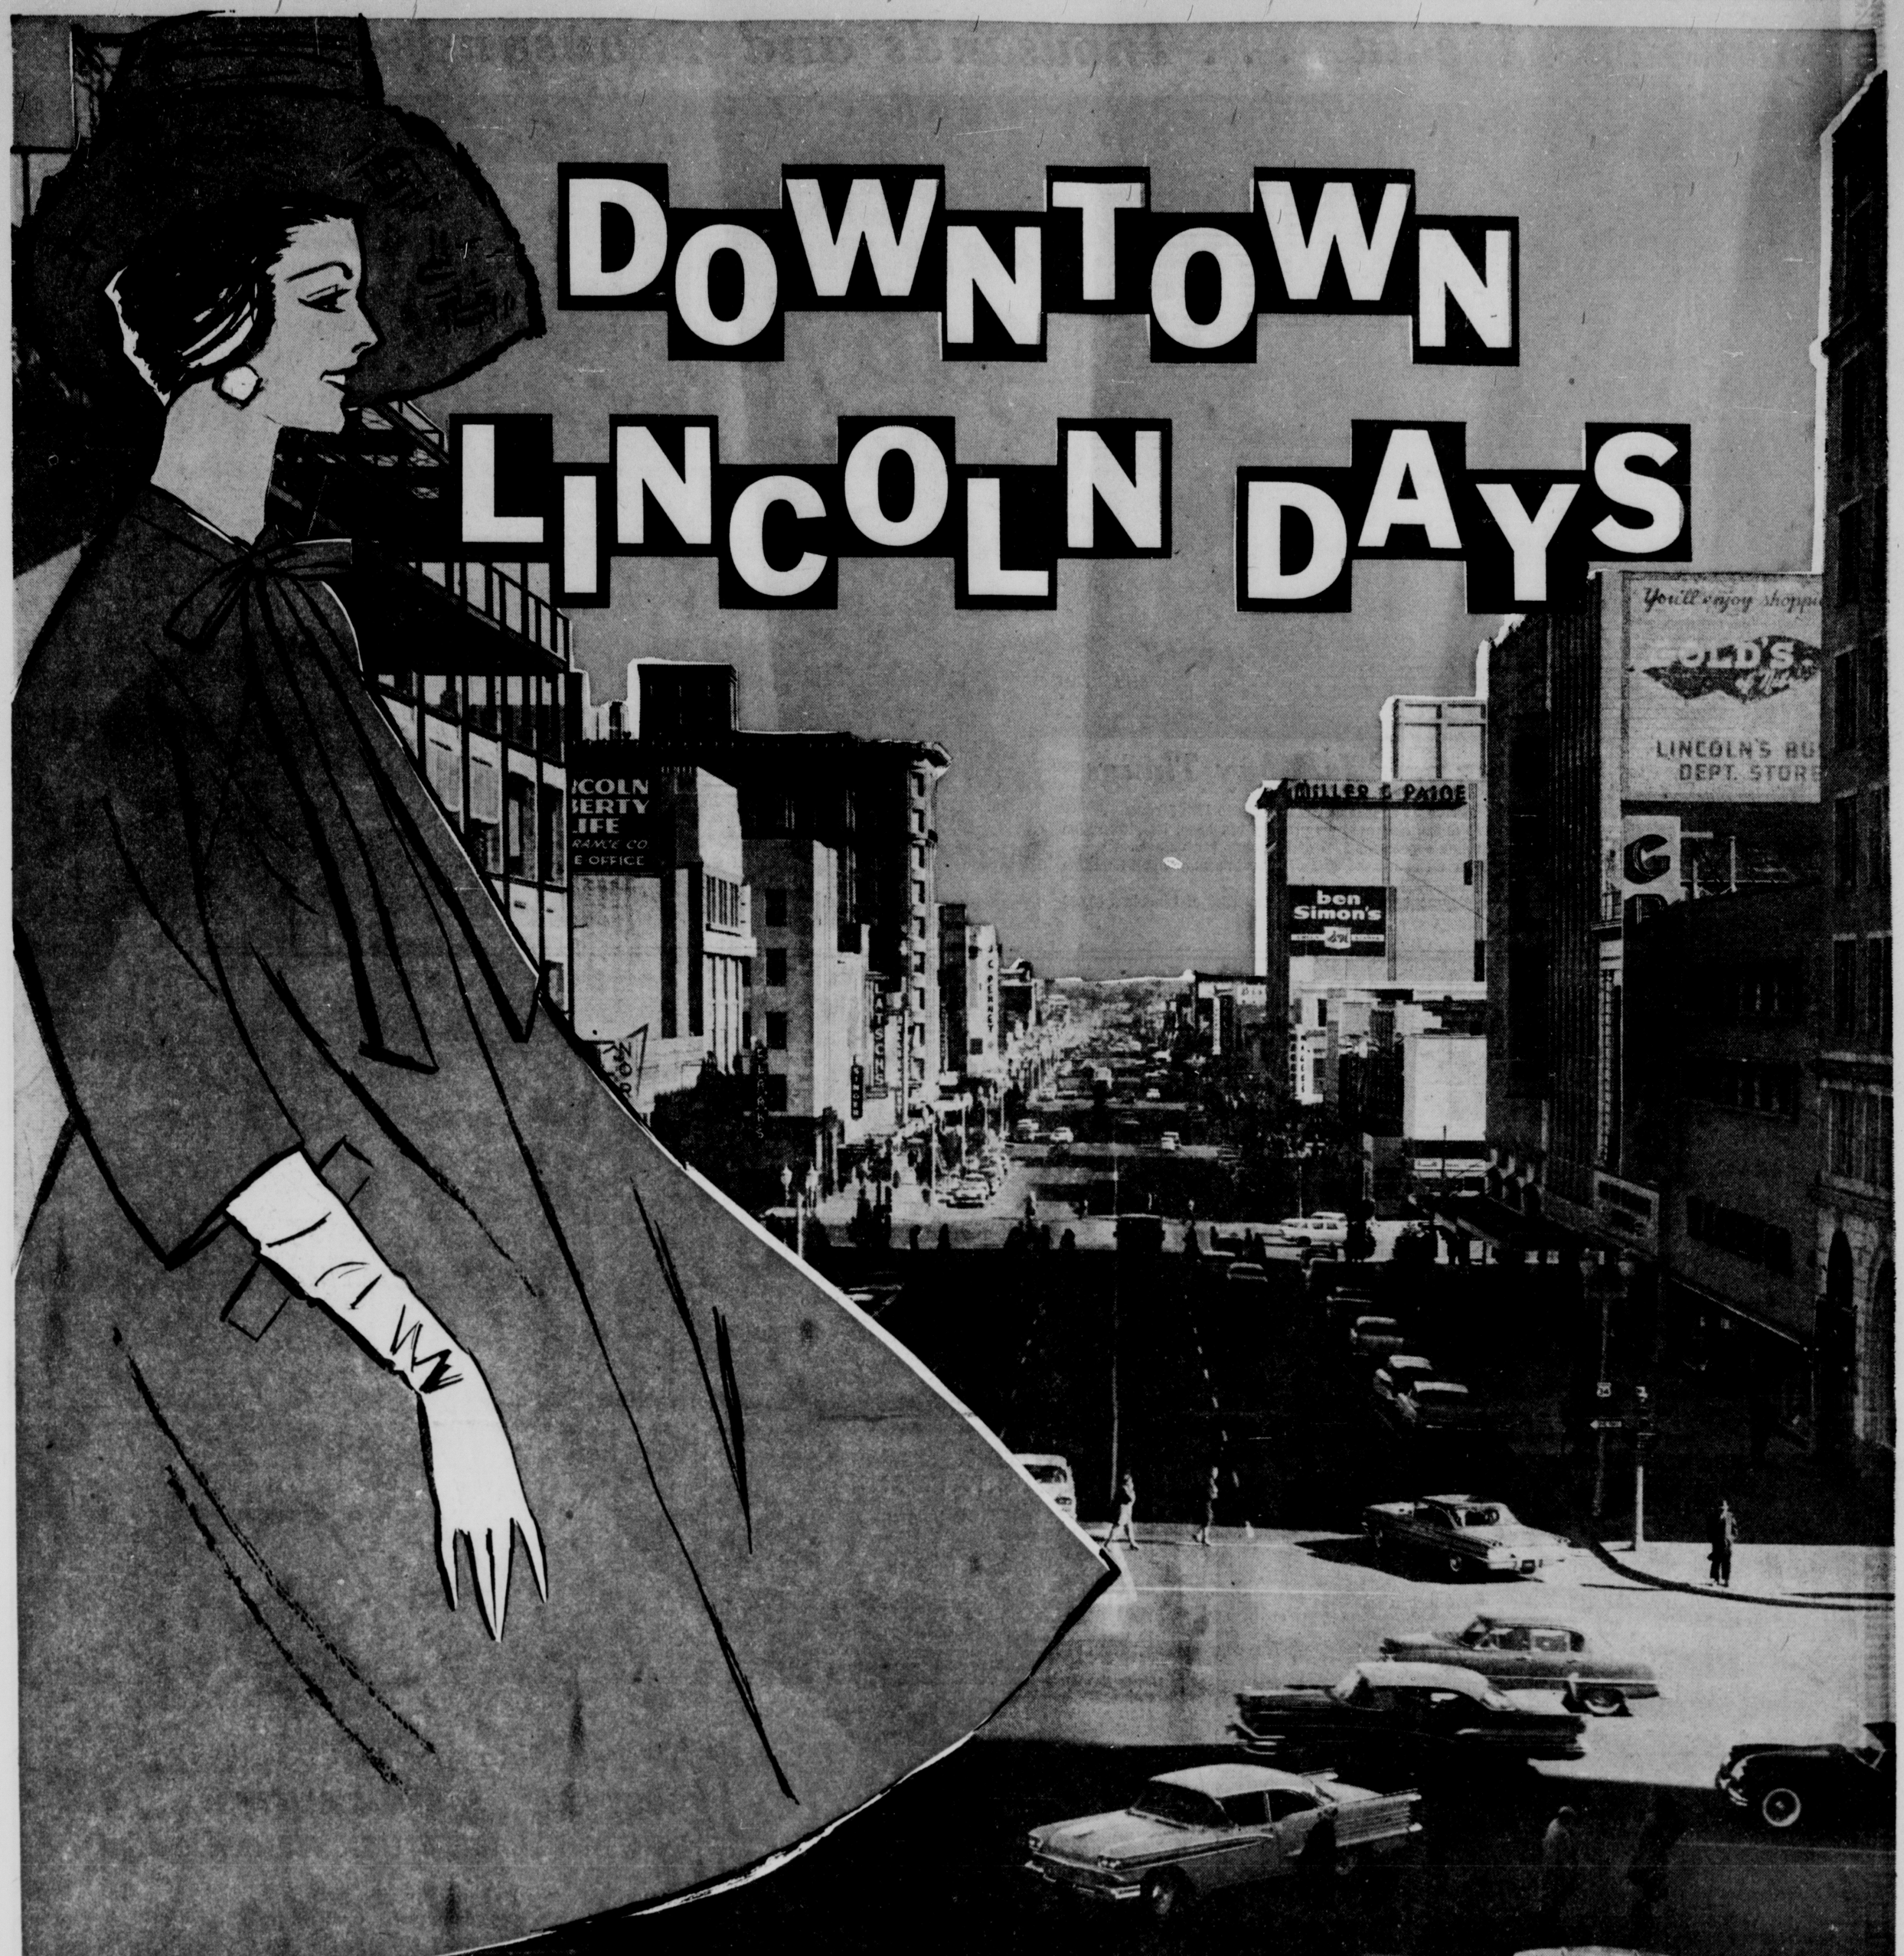
Fashion is Showing Subtle Signs of Spring



—If You Want It, Downtown Has It—

Downtown, an American institution, in Lincoln, and elsewhere, is a constantly changing picture. Its survival has been its ability to adapt to modern change and demands.

Parking improvements replace the horse-drawn street car. The electric trolley departed from downtown Lincoln only 16 years. Herpolsheimers and Rudge and Guenzel are no more, along with steel stop buttons at the intersections. A parade of neon names of hundreds of stores beckon the shopper, whose parade is made orderly by modern traffic signals, "Walk," and "Don't Walk."

Downtown Lincoln is always changing. Yet it is just big enough, and the changes are gradual enough, that it always seems the same from day to day.

Perhaps it seems that way because so many Lincolnites live a good part of their active lives downtown.

Range Varies

They go there to borrow money and shop and shoot pool and see the dentist and make a living.

What makes Lincoln's downtown different? And what is the threat of continuity that makes the constantly-changing face of the downtown area always familiar?

What makes visitors say: "Sure, I remember Lincoln."?

Quality and variety of goods and services, maintained even though the names on the store fronts may change.

Louis Shackleford, president of Downtown Lincoln Assn. and a newcomer to Lincoln, puts it this way:

"Fine stores don't just happen. They are created by the tastes of customers who are enthusiastic about new ideas and know value. Lincoln is an exceptional shopping area. There is an immense variety and range of quality available."

Variety: Downtown shoppers choose from an estimated one million kinds of things.

Quality: "People in the Lincoln area are not content with the ordinary," Shackleford said. "They accept very new ideas in fashions and furnishings. They are good judges of value. I understand that is the history of shopping in Lincoln."

There is a quality look to the downtown area, because a great many people have always been interested in keeping the place spruced up — or at least their part of it.

Dividend Realized

No doubt, the new buildings and new looks and new services added through the years have resulted from the free enterprise desire to prosper. But this competitive keeping-up-with-the Joneses has paid to the city a dividend of attractiveness.

Architects have given their blessing to the stylish appearance of downtown Lincoln. They praise its open, clean, uncluttered look of sophistication.

That sophisticated look is tempered by a folksy atmosphere. (Ever count smiles in downtown Lincoln?) So the sophistication is not forbidding.

Downtown is not all department stores, although the department stores draw heavy shopping traffic.

Large stores estimate their stock at 500,000 kinds of items. "These variety plus services make department stores popular with shoppers.

However, downtown has a variety of specialty stores.

There is a store which sells only neckties. Another sells health foods. Still another sells nothing which costs more than 88 cents. This is a latter-day development of the old 5-and-dime, which is also still active.

All Styles, Prices

Other stores offer only gifts, clothing, books, shoes, food, furniture, office equipment or sporting goods.

But within each category of goods, downtown Lincoln offers a variety of styles and prices.

This may be one reason why in the important retail sales category, called "general merchandise," Lincoln ranks high in its 20-county retail trade area, and also nationally.

Apparel in an almost fantastically wide range of styles and prices is available in downtown Lincoln. And it is a big business.

Lincoln sets the pace as a fashion center, especially for women.

Shops carry in regular stock famous national and international names in ready-to-wear garments. Custom clothes are also readily available.

Downtown Lincoln . . . . Thousands and Thousands of Shoppers

'Downtown' Is Many Things

—Shoppers feet trod its 56 blocks, K to R, 9th to 17th Streets.
—It is the core of the community's propery tax base. Its $18 million assessed valuation represents 12% of Lincoln's tax valuation.
—It accounts for an estimated 80% of Lincoln's annual $194 million retail sales.
—It is the employment site of an estimated 25% of Lincoln's 60,000 labor force.

GLAMOR, PLUS . . . Is what Mrs. James Keill of Lincoln discovers while wrapped in this mink stole under the admiring gaze of her husband.

Variety Spices Downtown Life

Are you in the lap of luxury when you are in downtown Lincoln?

Consider these goodies, all available now downtown:

—A $13,000 sports car.
—A $6,000 mink coat.
—A $5,000 diamond ring.
—A pair of rose jars, $485.
—An original, unduplicated glass bowl for $160.
—Two ounces of caviar, $1.39.

If you want to send a "Happy Birthday" cablegram to a friend in Kenya, you can do that downtown for 27 cents a word.

At the other end of the scale, there are things you can still buy for a nickel. Chewing gum, for instance. Or a rubber tip for a walking cane.

Downtown is the place to go if you want a glass banana.

Or a live green monkey. Or a pale blue wig.

Or a bottle of sea brine, or a lion made of rope, or men's shoes done in shiny gold leather. (If you like, you can get men's shoes with jewels on the toes.)

Don't overlook camel saddles, perfumed matches, pan drainers, rock candy, antique egg cookers, Chinese iron figurines "with genuine rust," a mynah bird, and a monkey fur necklace.

All these things are available downtown now, or have been in the very recent past.

Sometimes items "get hot" and sell out, like the blue wigs.

But oatmeal soap is still going strong. And you can still get, for $59.50, a musical powder box that allows you a choice of ten tinkling tunes.

How far are you from the 4 corners of the world when you are downtown?

Not far if you want something from a distant land, or a distant city in the U.S.

Telegraph, telephone and quick-message teletypewriter services tie Lincoln business firms with buying outlets in major U.S. and foreign cities.

Jet air service brings the world closer to Lincoln.

Local retailers can order some items from the East or West Coast in the morning and have it in the store the same day. Most firms now can count on at least 24-hour service on items they do not stock.

From All Over

If there is a delay, it usually is not in transportation.

For instance, a wedding gown can be made to order on Seventh Avenue in New York, but manufacture of the garment takes time — much more than the time it takes a train or plane to whisk it from New York to Lincoln.

Foreign items are becoming increasingly popular in Lincoln stores.

There are British woolens, Irish linens, Italian leathers, Swiss and Dutch chocolates, and a variety of goods from the Orient — particularly Japan.

Also available are autos from Germany, England, Sweden, France, Italy and Australia.

Competition: Key to Progress

By way of competing with each other, downtown Lincoln merchants have in the past pioneered new techniques. These techniques then became widespread as competitors followed.

This continuing competition has made Lincoln a midwestern pioneer in some progressive innovations.

Air conditioning came to Lincoln stores in 1929 and the first escalator was in 1941. This was about a decade ahead of the general acceptance of these store facilities in the U.S.

Downtown Lincoln was early with automatic elevators, automatic bookkeeping and automatic candy-dippers.

Lincoln was one of the first U.S. cities to experiment with a downtown mall, even on a temporary basis.

In general, new buildings downtown have always conformed to "the look" of Lincoln. This does not mean there has not been great freedom within the form.

'Firsts' Added

Sometimes business firms have added "firsts" which are not money-makers of themselves, but which have become something for the downtown community to brag about.

For example, one bank has a unique "doorless door," one of the first anywhere to use a forced-air curtain in place of a solid door. And another bank has a giant mural covering one wall, a mural designed specifically for that place.

Things have not always been silky - smooth downtown.

For instance, Lincoln women decided they had seen enough of high prices in 1919 and went on a buying strike.

That isn't likely to happen now. Competition is too keen, and most stores now pay closer attention to the pulse of the buying public.

One downtown store received an unusual request for an exchange of items.

The customer couldn't come in himself, he explained. He was in prison in another state.

The exchange was made.

This was one of the many unusual services which downtown stores have performed for their customers in the past.

Help!

One store outfitted a bride in Guam, and another did the same for a bride in Japan.

There was a chap who wanted his money back for a belt he had purchased 45 years earlier. The joking request developed a comic correspondence sequence between customer and store.

Request Filled

Another man wrote to have a new lining put into a coonskin cap he had bought in a Lincoln store 20 years earlier. He specified he wanted the store label on the replacement lining, because to him the store meant Lincoln.

"My life in Lincoln meant much to me," he wrote. His request was filled.

There was a time, in Lincoln's early merchandising history, when the downtown business of selling involved people who bought merchandise, people who sold it and people who swept out the store.

But the business is now so complex that service personnel may outnumber sellers. Customers demand services.

Unlimited Services

These are some of the services available from downtown merchants:

—They will roast a pig for you, with an apple in its mouth and a laurel wreath around its neck.

They will furnish you with left-handed checkbooks.

—They will meet you at the door of the store with a wheelchair, if you need one.

—They will deliver your packages to your house or to your car in a parking garage.

—They will wrap and mail your purchases for you.

—They will let you use, without charge, shopping bags, kiddie strollers and shopping carts.

—They will plan your wedding, including keeping a register of your desired household goods patterns so friends can get the "right" gift.

—They will mend your nylons, do your hair, and fix your clock.

—They will alter your corset, loan you a book, monogram your luggage or frame your pictures.

—They will counsel you in home decorating, lay your carpets, and make your draperies to order.

—They will keep a record of your family's shoe sizes, cash your checks, and give you credit.

—They will even shop for you.

Some Difficult

Some downtown stores have personal shoppers. They handle mail and phone requests, and some are difficult to fill.

Like the one from a lady in Minnesota who asked a shopper to deliver to a friend in a Lincoln Hospital these items: goldfish, a fish bowl, a little castle and a fishing figure.

The real toughie was a request from a lady who wanted a hat. But instead of sending her hat size, she sent her bust measurement.

Downtown stores often find their services stretch out over long distances.

One firm sent a wading pool to Holland. Another has sent packages to Turkey and Morocco.

Another store was asked by a Lincoln man bound for India to solve a problem: get appliances that would work on electric current available in India.

A washer, dryer, refrigerator and freezer built to the proper specifications were waiting for the customer when he arrived in India.

Other Things

Most of the downtown area is devoted to retail trade, but the city's heart beats with other activity.

Services are available there.

You can get keys made. You can get your shoes fixed and shined, your hat re-shaped, and your clothes cleaned.

When you see your doctor, dentist or lawyer, you probably go downtown.

If you work downtown, you probably eat lunch there.

If you leave Lincoln by train or bus, you leave from downtown.

You can borrow money or invest it downtown. Investment firms offer outlets for investment capital, and you can purchase an interest in any of the broad range of U.S. companies which are stockholder-owned.

Entertainment

Downtown Lincoln is noted for its day life more than for its night life. Compared to most metropolitan cities, downtown Lincoln is quiet after dark.

That does not mean there are not things to do downtown.

There are places to eat and drink, both public and private.

Theaters offer movies which are seen in Lincoln as early as they are shown in New York or Chicago. Plays and concerts center downtown, in theaters, the Auditorium, and the nearby University of Nebraska campus.

You Name It

You can bowl or shoot billiards downtown. You can swim and play badminton at the YMCA or YWCA. The Auditorium houses ice skating, musicals, sports, plays, trade shows and conventions.

The University of Nebraska's sporting events draw large crowds to the downtown area.

It's All Here—in Lincoln

LEISURE LIFE — Eat out, dance, the movies . . . these are just some of the attractions downtown Lincoln offers the entertainment seeker.

Improved Car Access On Downtown Horizon

The city heart inhales people in the morning, then breathes them out late in the afternoon before settling down to a quiet night.

Travel from residential areas, more distant from the downtown area in Lincoln than in many cities of comparable size, is speeded by one-way pairs and by a southeast diagonal. In the future are these improved avenues to downtown:

—The Interstate Highway. Completion of Route 180, the downtown access, is expected by 1962. This will speed out-of-town traffic into the city.

—The East O Expressway. Construction is to begin soon on this improvement, designed to speed traffic east of 27th.

—The Northeast Diagonal. This will follow the Expressway on the construction timetable. The diagonal will provide a faster way downtown from the northeast communities.

Parking

Continued interest in providing parking downtown reflects faith in the continued development of downtown Lincoln. New parking garages say: "The downtown area is growing."

A 390-car parking garage at 12th and P should be ready at the end of 1961.

This will be added to 4,000 metered parking stalls and 3,500 off-street spaces in garages and lots which are now available. Other parking garages are planned.

If downtown Lincoln is sometimes accused of being clannish, at least it has this answer:

The clan is a big one.

For many of the people who are part of "downtown" only during working hours still feel proprietary about the area.

Pride Involved

There is pride behind those baskets of flowers which decorate downtown lampposts. There is pride behind the annual concern that the Christmas street decorations be "just right."

Downtown does not just take, it also gives.

Downtowners donate display space for civic causes, to which they also give time and funds. Some firms give scholarships.

There is pride in keeping downtown clean, in more ways than one.

Every member of the Downtown Lincoln Association must first be a Better Business Bureau member.

The BBB statistics show Lincoln as a whole is a "clean town," compared with others nationally. It is relatively free from unethical business practices. Downtown shares in this city-wide reputation.

'Clean Town'

Let a non-native tell of Lincoln's widely admired, fresh-scrubbed look.

"Many cities have instituted widespread programs to keep clean. They put trash receptacles on many street corners in an attempt to stop people from littering.

"The city of Lincoln is among the cleanest in the country.

"Lincoln Air Force Base, as a small community in itself, should maintain the same reputation . . ."

So wrote Col. William H. Working, base commander at LAFB.

Not Gaudy

Another person, also not a native, said:

"I am continually impressed with the downtown area. The merchants and business and professional men seem to share a deep pride in putting on the best possible front—one that isn't gaudy, like the 'loop' in Chicago, but is in good taste."

Some Lincoln firms maintain and donate meeting places for civic and cultural organizations.

Culture and politics exert a strong influence on the downtown area.

The University of Nebraska with its Morrill Hall museum, Mueller Planetarium and Love Library is close at hand. Soon to come are the NU Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery and a new City Library.

These will add to the already attractive downtown area.

Architecturally, they also will contribute to the varied landscape of buildings. Both will be different, as are many of the already existing structures.

This, plus the ever present desire to spruce up, will add pink to the cheeks of downtown, an area whose complexion is amazingly fresh.

Politically, the downtown area is the seat of state, city and county government.

Honestly, Now You Can Shop—and Save

For days, our mail at home has been crammed—and so surely has yours if you have charge accounts at any of your favorite stores—with appealing announcements of "phenomenal savings" . . . "remarkable bargains" . . . "sensational markdowns" . . . How bona fide are 1961's current sales on a huge variety of both soft and hard goods?

Right now, many stores are still limiting sales to charge account customers, but general clearances are widespread and more are to come. According to our mail, and the newspaper ads, we can get coats, suits, dresses, shoes for the entire family, china, linen, stationery, handbags, luggage, etc., at prices 20-33% below the original.

If these offers are "real," this should be the buying opportunity of the year on many items which I know I'll have to buy, and so will you, in coming months. Is this the buying opportunity it appears to be?

'Honest Answers'

To get honest answers I asked several of New York's top merchants and retail specialists to talk off the record and give it to me in plain words. In essence, the replies add up to:

Yes, February sales are and will be bona fide. Yes, this will be one of the best times of the year to buy.

But a simple "yes" doesn't begin to suggest the complex reasons behind it which are important to your pocketbook. Specifically:

February is a traditional sales period in stores.

Retailers are trying to shake us out of our winter letdown by offering specials. This year most stores don't have great amounts to unload because they have been exceedingly cautious but as one retailer put it," We have enough left to make for some drastic markdowns if we're going to get our stores ready for an early spring push."

Most quality shops postpone clearances until the first weeks of a new year, and sales in quality shops usually are scrupulously honest.

In the words of another merchant, "It's silly of these stores to wait and then cut prices substantially when shopping traffic is light, but that's the way they've always done it. If you can find the right size and style in what you want, this is the time to pick it up."

To attract customers, many retailers buy up blocks of "distress merchandise" at this season and advertise it at spectacular reductuions.

'13th Month'

Said a retail specialist: "This often is called 'the 13th month' in the year because of the way stores go in for these specials. I know what is offered at times, and if you shop at reputable stores and are told it's a distressed merchandise bargain, look into it."

We have been in a recession for months and there already have been impressive price cuts on appliances, autos, hard goods. We're into the winter months when price softness isn't at all unusual.

Although you did send Christmas sales to a record, you made it obvious that you've become a much more selective shopper in recent years. The startingly different records chalked up by competitive stores in the same neighborhoods last month underlined the extent to which you're now responding to shrewd retailing.

To quote another expert, "The stores are realizing you won't just 'buy' now. You have to be sold. A lot of them are determined to sell you in these weeks, and this means they're going to offer you price as well as better service if they can manage it."

Finally, the likelihood that the recession will be giving way to a new recovery in 1961 suggests prices well may firm up as the year rolls on. Barring a business slump far beyond the current decline — which I'm barring — the prospect of major price slashes across the board is certainly remote. A relatively stable price level is a national goal.

February is FREE Installation* Month for GAS dryers

Have a Speed Queen Installed while connection is FREE

Sometime this winter, many of you have given considerable thought to buying a clothes dryer. And right now during February when the installation is FREE is the time to decide on a Speed Queen GAS Dryer. Speed Queen is a moderate-priced, quality dryer with exclusive features, such as the smooth chip-proof, rust-proof Stainless Steel Drum. This drum protects your clothes against tears, snags and stains . . . and a Safety Twin-Dry Control stops the dryer at the proper time to avoid over-drying. You'll like the economical operation and maintenance of a Gas Clothes Dryer too . . . It means substantial savings for you year after year.

For Other Gas Dryer Models, See Your Favorite Dealer.

* Free connection includes up to 15 feet of tubing for Gas Dryers connected on Central Electric & Gas Company lines.

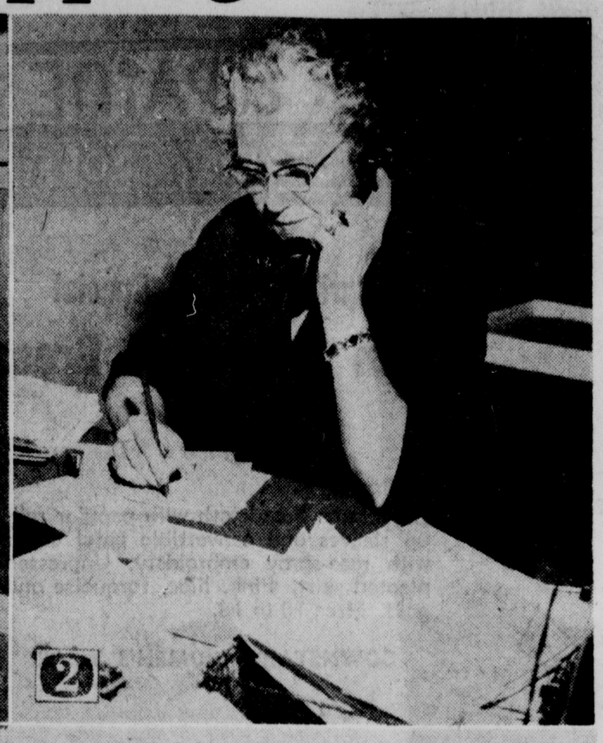
Fast, Easy Shopping Service



Downtown Shopping At Home

Mrs. Wilbur Miller of Lincoln (1) checks Sunday Journal and Star advertisement, telephones her order. At a downtown store, Mrs. Helen Smith (2) accepts it and starts the wheels turning to assure prompt delivery. Fleets of trucks (3) typical of those used by many downtown merchants, serve city and out-of-town customers. Mrs. Miller accepts delivery at her front door (4) and eagerly prepares to open the order (5) she placed so conveniently.

"A second thought

Downtown Lincoln Days
Feb. 13-14

We're constantly amazed at the number of children who cut, scrape and bruise themselves within sight (and sound) of our pharmacy. We do a big business in antiseptics, bandages, and other first-aid items. Same everywhere, probably. But sometimes we wonder if people don't depend too much on first aid—neglect proper medical attention. If there's the slightest question in your mind following what appears to be minor injuries, see your physician. First aid has definite limitations. You can only be sure of proper medical care by seeing your doctor. A prompt visit can save a half dozen later.

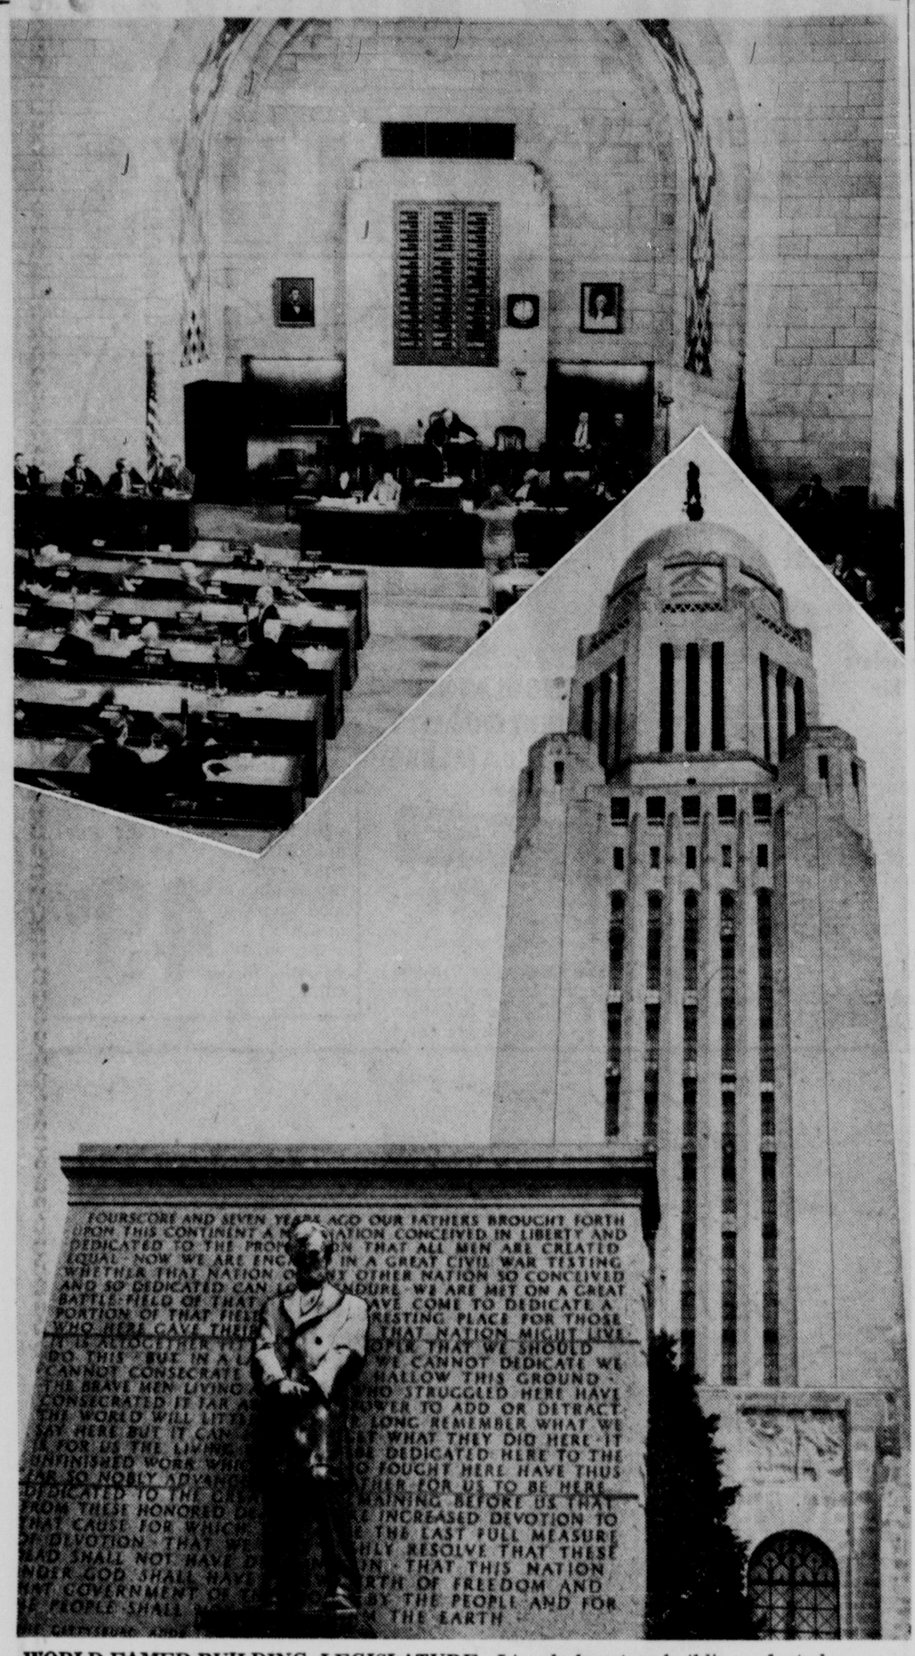
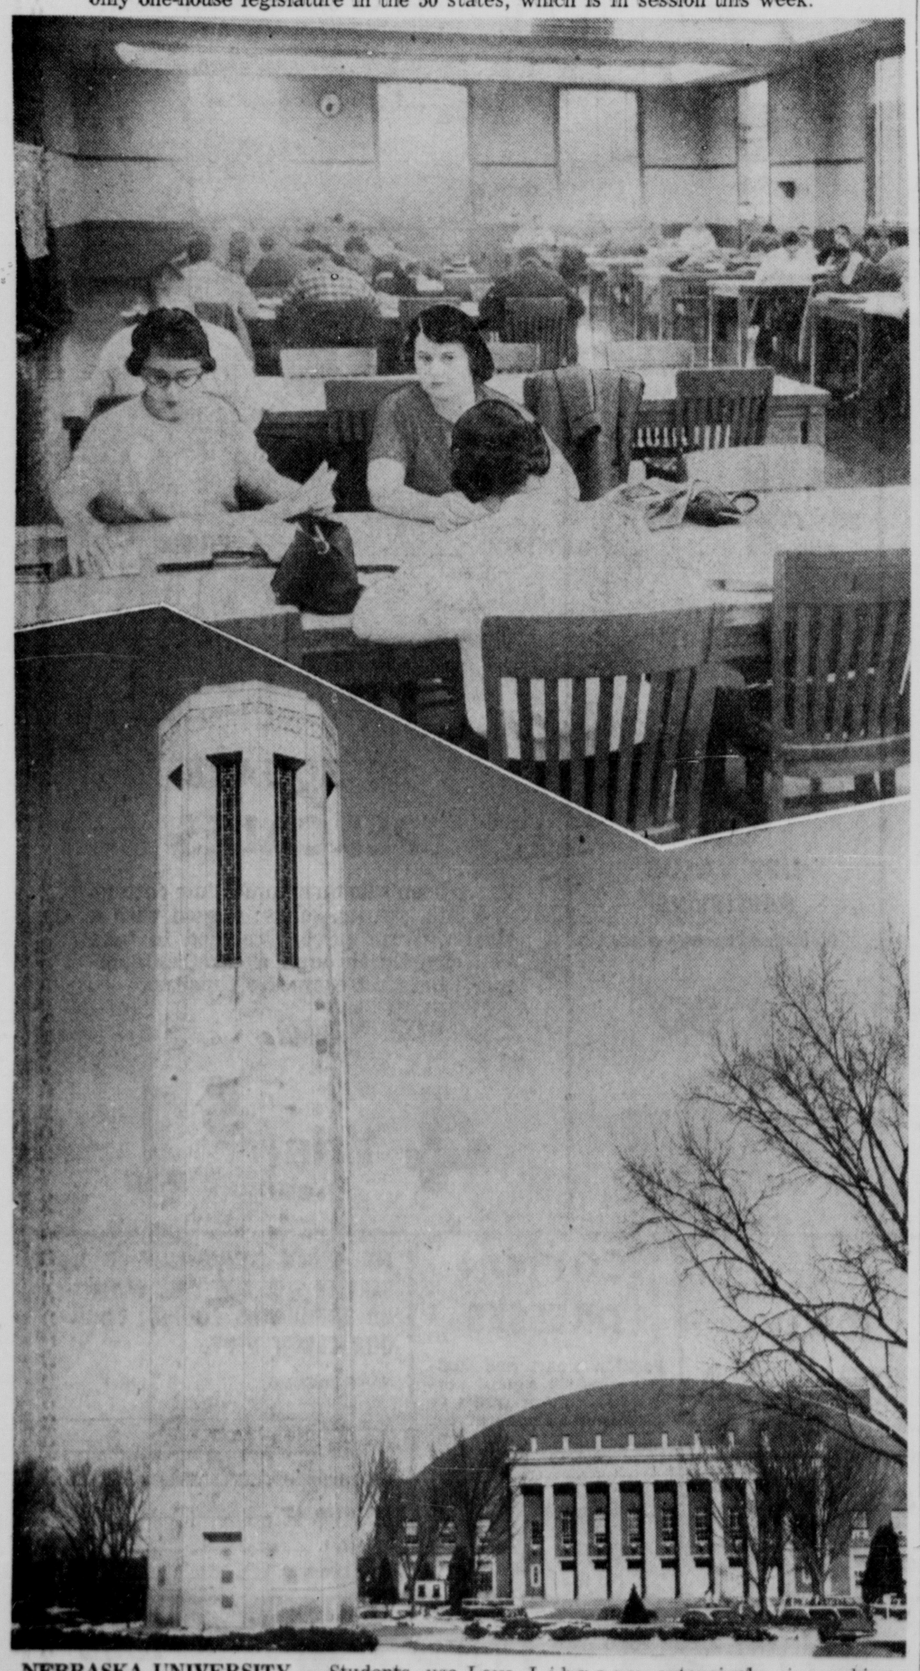
It's All Here—in Lincoln



WORLD FAMED BUILDING, LEGISLATURE—Lincoln boasts a building selected as one of the world's most outstanding. So designated by architects throughout the nation, the Capitol is a constant lure for sightseers. Adding to the attraction is the Unicameral, the only one-house legislature in the 50 states, which is in session this week.



NEBRASKA UNIVERSITY — Students use Love Library extensively in seeking knowledge. It is only one of many imposing sights to see on the downtown campus. Another is beautiful Mueller Tower, whose chimes are a campus tradition.

Roman? Gothic? Modern? Georgian? . . . Look Around in Lincoln

Roman, Greek Influence Easy To Spot

Many are new. Some are old. Many are tall. Some are short. But, they're all looking up. Buildings in Lincoln's business district present shoppers a striking contrast in architectural design. The eye quickly spots the towering influence of early Greeks and Romans as well as youthful American slide rule operators. Keeping abreast with the times, most buildings have taken on new looks from time to time while retaining their initial goal — service to Lincolnites and their neighbors.
